PROLOGUE

How is it possible that the entire Universe can be so organized as to perfectly represent the consciousness of every single organism at every moment of its life?

Astrology asserts that the Universe revolves around each one of us.

However, Copernicus discovered, many centuries ago, that we are not even remotely the center of the Universe, making astrology seem an antiquated part of an outmoded idea.

But, what if the Universe itself is centered around a higher dimension, a Mental Plane which organizes and contains the Universe?

Evidence of astrology is evidence of the Mental Plane.

If so, the Universe itself must be one single organism, which is the body of one single self-aware consciousness who is creating a multitude of simultaneous, interacting experiences that exist within it as a projection of the Mind.

PREFACE TO 2ND EDITION

In the eight years since The Astrology Code was first published, I have continued to learn and grow in many different ways. In addition to doing personal analysis, writing, and visiting shamans in South America, I attended the Gestalt and C.G. Jung psychoanalytic institutes in NYC for 3 years. During this phase, I became exposed to a whole new vantage point for understanding the human psyche and soul.

Much of this has been shared through my growing Facebook audience. I have written about metaphysical topics as well as the many issues that astrologers struggle with: the Houses, the Southern Hemisphere, the Great Ages, and the Sidereal Zodiac to name a few.

I have also learned how to improve my statistical research, and study the macrocosm under a better microscope. In the original book, I mainly used raw data to evaluate the study groups. In this edition, every piece of data is compared with a well designed control group. In addition, all Southern hemisphere charts have been removed from the study groups. Since the zodiac is formed by the seasons, it became apparent to me that the signs are most likely reversed "down under", since their seasons are reversed.

I also added many new study groups, such as Astronauts, Film Directors, Computer Programmers, High IQ individuals, and Nazis. I also decided to include 14 of Lois Rodden's personality trait study groups. I did not include them in the original book because of their subjective nature, but decided that it would be useful for readers to see them.

Due to the improved statistical methodology, I was able to take a much more involved look at the Gauquelin data as well. I obtained 15 of his main study groups, comprising over 23k charts, and applied the same methodology he used to analyze their house placements. I also analyzed them in the same manner I used for all of the Rodden groups. The results were profound!

Overall, the book has undergone a major renovation and, in my opinion, has improved in accuracy dramatically. Most of my original findings have stood up, and some new techniques have been verified as well, the most notable being the houses. Originally, I was suspicious of the houses due to the mass of confusion surrounding them. But, using Gauquelin's Diurnal Arc technique, in the traditional zodiac sign order, I have been able to reveal findings that greatly support their usage.

Astrologers often say that there are many different systems of astrology that all work equally well. However, through statistics we can easily observe the effectiveness of any astrological technique. It is time to hold astrology to the same standards as every other scientific field in order to help bring forth a more clear understanding of its truth.

The Astrology Code seeks to begin this process through the study of almost 37,000 people in 122 study groups. Many astrological techniques were validated, but others were found to be questionable. In order to raise astrology to the level of accepted science, astrologers everywhere must be willing to adjust their methods in response to the best research available. This improves both the credibility of the field and the quality of our work.

Traditional rule-based astrology systems such as Hellenic and Vedic over-simplify astrological symbolism and propose to know a future which does not even exist.

Sun sign astrology is the ultimate over-simplification, proposing that no other planets or cycles have any importance. It grew an audience but lost astrology's soul.

The majority of people are wise to these things and scorn astrology, as a result. In order to make astrology an accepted field of study, it must make sense and be verifiable. It also must serve people's spiritual needs and not imprison their minds in fatalistic thinking.

Many astrologers feel uncomfortable taking instruction from a person outside of the profession. It is important to know that my goal has always been to be an astrologer, but I needed to verify the techniques for myself before using them with clients. In my research, I never had any intention to prove any particular techniques right or wrong. In fact, I was rooting for each one as I studied them. My only intention was to derive accurate findings and present my best assessment of the truth.

Will any of my findings be proven wrong? Quite possibly. But a great deal will stand up under scrutiny and, as any mathematician knows, we only need one proof of a thing to prove it to be true. This was the principle that motivated Michel Gauquelin to focus on the Diurnal Arc method of daily planetary motion. But I am going further by trying to test every single astrological technique in order to develop a comprehensive system of chart interpretation. I believe that I have accomplished this goal.

In addition, I have tied many other metaphysical systems into astrology such as the Jungian Cognitive Functions, MBTI types, the Enneagram, Numerology, and the Chakras.

In our modern era, people are increasingly seeking metaphysical systems of thought to improve self-awareness, connect to our life's purpose, and serve spiritual needs.

The system shown in The Astrology Code understands that astrology is an evolving field of knowledge and that astrologers need not have all the answers. Our exact individual expression can not be known by our birth chart alone. We determine our choices and self-expression in each moment of the present. The art of being an astrologer is to help people find their truth and eternal connection with the divine.

INTRODUCTION

This book aims to present the results of a statistical research project in terms that any student of astrology can understand and apply. It reveals my statistical findings as well as a model of the nature of the planets and the structure of the zodiac. To my knowledge, this is the first project of its kind. Its contents are original and can enhance the way people view astrology. It can also improve the knowledge and accuracy of astrologers, giving them a solid basis for their interpretations. My hope is that this book will stir enthusiasm in many others to do similar research into astrology's effects on human and planetary existence and the many ways that it can be used to better our lives.

BACKGROUND

As a child, I was raised as a half-Jewish atheist in a Catholic neighborhood in 1970's and 80's Brooklyn. I played soccer and baseball on the street with other kids living in the area. We would listen to music, practice dancing, hang-out and flirt. Life was good.

In my teen-age years, most of my friends turned to drugs, sex, and crime as outlets and dropped out of school. I did not go down this road due to the support of my parents, the excellent specialized public high school I attended, and an internal voice filling me with self-belief.

I did not have any particularly spiritual experiences until I was 17, when I was shocked by the sudden realization that everyone and everything revolves around each of us, simultaneously. This caused a flood of thoughts about the nature of life, death, and God. I realized that all of us are parts of God and that it could never be otherwise. At 18, I was seized by a vision of the world entering a new era and that I would participate in it through sharing knowledge gained in my adulthood.

Four years later, I was introduced to astrology by a friend and knew immediately that my life would revolve around this great field of study. I taught myself how to construct charts by hand, since there were no computer programs at the time, and excitedly attempted to analyze the charts of friends and family members. But I started to notice that the standard techniques in books did not always work so well. So, I slowed down on my astrology studies and started studying spirituality.

I devoured every book that seemed to offer any insight at all into the meaning of existence. I learned how to meditate, developed a yoga practice, and used psychoactive substances in attempts to gain communion with God. And, on a couple of occasions, I did get glimpses of the loving presence, which encouraged me greatly to develop myself into a good and helpful person who could make a lasting contribution to life.

Many years later, while working as a high school teacher, I started tinkering around with some new ideas I was having about astrology. I noticed that at the time that I moved in with my girlfriend, got engaged, then married, I had absolutely no astrological influences in my chart. I thought that there must be something I wasn't seeing. I had learned about how astrologers in India use the 9th harmonic chart. They call it the Navamsha chart and give it great importance for seeing the inner nature of a person. So the thought of looking at transits to my 9th harmonic chart positions occurred to me. Sure enough, Pluto was conjunct with my 9th harmonic Moon position exactly at these times. Of course, the Moon represents the home and women. I thought: "This is big!" That was in the year 2005.

I spent a few years working with my thoughts, studying all the charts I could find and eventually gained full confidence in the use of the 9th harmonic chart. In 2008, I bought the birth data of 15,000 people from Lois Rodden, which contains full biographies, and organized as many of them as I could into categories. Then I purchased software that could compile the astrological data of these people (JigSaw) and I started interpreting the tables of information to see if there were any real patterns or if it was just a mirage.

After months of devoting most every day to this statistical project, while waiting for my first daughter to be born, I discovered that the patterns were real. The statistical findings were very strong! But how could I get this information to people? Who could understand? Who would believe me or care?

So I posted my findings to the Internet and naively expected the whole world to applaud. Of course, nothing of the sort happened. So, I patiently continued with my experiments and found that there were many other patterns that I could statistically verify.

This book is a compilation of those patterns that I found to be effective when interpreting an astrology chart. All together, they form an entire system, which leads to an accurate interpretation of a person or event. The patterns in the 1st harmonic chart show the surface personality of a person, while the patterns in the 9th harmonic chart reveal the person's inner nature. Combined, the detailed dynamics of the person's consciousness are revealed.

PHILOSOPHY

So what is the real use of astrology after all? Is it to find out if someone is compatible with you or if you will have a good career or many children?

These uses are relevant but inconsequential compared to its real treasure -- the revelation that the universe is alive, conscious, and self-willed! The physical universe is the expression or projection of a mind, which precedes it and is, therefore, contained within this mind. We are a part of this mind and exist whether in physical bodies or not.

So then, if the universe is all the consciousness of one great mind, why is life so chaotic and why do we seem so incomplete and feel unfulfilled? Consider, that before the universe existed there was nothing ... except self-awareness. And perhaps before that some state of semi-awareness. The point is that all this is new ... a constantly evolving creation of self-expression, of which we are the focal points. We have not done this before and are, therefore, making it up as we go along. We make the best choices we can as we gain knowledge and wisdom about living as physical individuals. There is no final goal because we are in a constant state of becoming something new and having entirely new goals, as a result. Of course, this seems to be happening very slowly for most of us. But it is happening nonetheless. It is what we call evolution and as we evolve we see increasing order in our lives and the universe.

But how can astrology help us out specifically in our goal of expressing ourselves more intelligently and lovingly? The birth chart of an individual is a symbolic map of its consciousness. If understood well enough, the chart shows the tendencies that manifest in every aspect of our lives. The planets of the solar system represent the phases of our consciousness and how they interact, the zodiac signs show how our consciousness expresses itself, and the houses represent the outer world conditions in which our consciousness finds expression.

An astrologer can help interpret a birth chart, but only you will ever be able to reveal everything there is to be learned. True knowledge can only be gained through the individual self's awareness, through contemplation and insight. The birth chart is your special mandala, which will provide surprising revelations to you as life experiences show you how the symbols of your inner world manifest in your life. Knowing the symbolism of your birth chart will give you an objective basis for observing yourself and making the necessary corrections towards becoming who you want to be. The more effectively you do this, the more peaceful and fulfilling your life will become.

ASTROLOGY, THE NEW SCIENCE

Unbeknown to most people, astrologers have been attempting to discover new techniques for the last few hundred years, and have not stagnated with the advent of science. Astrology has grown from a mere predictive art into a form of psychological analysis with widespread applications. But, up until now, there has been very little evidence, in the form of statistics, to verify that the universe expresses itself through astrological symbolism. As a result, faith and personal experience have been the bedrock of astrologers, which has led to astrology's disrepute amongst scientifically minded people.

Astrology is a science which attains personal and subjective information from the conditions of objective reality. In academic circles, this has been thought to be impossible. However, we are discovering, through quantum physics, that our consciousness plays a vital role in the objective conditions of life. In other words, how we see life influences what we see in life. This can be understood on a personal, collective, or universal level. Further, astrology proves the quantum theory that the phenomena of the universe form a cohesive whole, which is organized in an intelligent, meaningful manner. How else could planetary phenomena be used to gain personal information if all these phenomena were separate, random and not part of a synchronous cohesive system?

In order to establish astrology as a science, we need a set of techniques that can be consistently applied and statistically verified. I believe that this project accomplishes this task and should set the foundation for more research into the many ways that the planetary bodies of our solar system relate to life on Earth. Such knowledge could revolutionize the way we think, behave, and interact.

SUMMARY

In the first chapters of the book, I attempted to show how the universe is organized and how the planets and zodiac reflect this pattern in our solar system. Every feature of this pattern is analyzed statistically. The 12 sign zodiac came to exist by projecting consciousness, represented by the planets, into time and space. I studied the hemispheres, which represent duality, the quadrants, which represent the four planes of being, the four elements, which represent space, and the three modes, which represent time. All calculations were done in the Tropical zodiac, which uses the Sun's position at the Spring equinox as its starting point for Aries.

In the next chapters, the full statistical results and descriptions are shown for each sign. Students can use the tables to analyze directly how planets express through the 1st and 9th harmonics as well as each 1/9th portion of every sign. Most results are consistent with traditional meanings for the signs. The next two chapters show the results of the studies on planetary aspects and planets in the houses and on the 4 Axis points (Ascendant, Descendant, Midheaven, and Imum Coeli). Following this are a few examples of how to apply this study to chart reading. There are the charts of some famous sports figures, a comparison of Bill Gates and Steve Jobs, and studies of O.J. Simpson and Adolf Hitler.

In the final section, each group's findings are shown in detail and include a summary of the major findings. The interpretations are meant only to be suggestions for analysis since I do not presume to be an expert about each group of people. Every group's section has a summary table listing all relevant findings. Most groups have a very noticeable theme, which strongly validates the entire study. For example, Actors are strong in Aquarius in both the 1st and 9th harmonics, have frequent Venus aspects, have Venus frequent on the 4 Axis points, and are strong in the Fixed mode and Fixed sector (Fixed represents love and stability).

METHODOLOGY

I used 13,225 birth charts, which were collected by Lois Rodden. She took meticulous notes on each person and listed their careers, hobbies, and life events as well as the reliability of the source of the birth data. I organized the birth charts into as many groups as possible with at least 80 people in them.

I ended up with 93 different groups, some with over 1,200 people. Many individuals are in more than one study group (less than two on average). For instance, an actor who had a heart attack and 4 children would be in all three study groups.

These groups are based on objective facts about a person's life, which helped to eliminate subjective decision-making on my part. I also added 14 study groups that are based on subjective personality traits, such as extroversion and introversion. However, they are not included in the first section of the book which is used to assess the validity of the many astrology techniques.

I also included Michel Gauquelin's 15 study groups to use as a point of reference, since all of these groups have the same categories as the Rodden study groups. The 23,743 people in the Gauquelin groups are primarily French from the 19th century, while the Rodden groups are primarily Americans from the 20th century. Most of the people in the Gauquelin groups have birth times rounded to the nearest hour, while most of the birth times in the Rodden groups are exact to the minute.

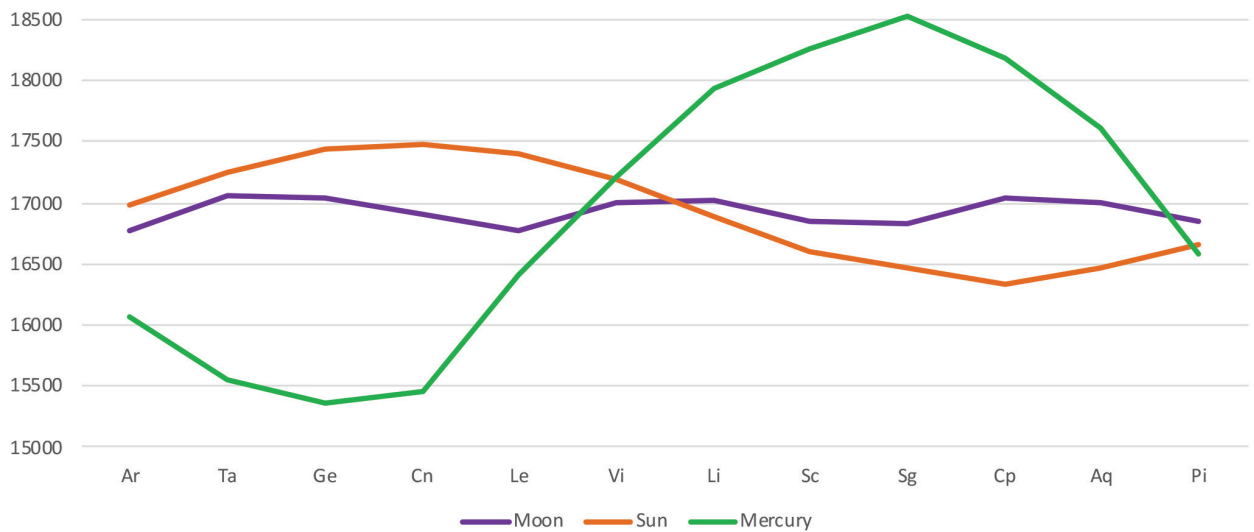

The statistical analysis for this project was done by creating a control group, used for comparison with every single point in the study. It was created by calculating over 200,000 evenly spread times from the years 1850 to 2000, when the majority of the population in this study was born, then replicating the birth time-of-day of the entire population.

This technique revealed the exact distribution of planets by sign and aspect, while also reflecting the human birth trend of being born predominantly in the morning hours, thus allowing for studying the houses and 4 Axis points.

Each planet has its own unique distribution through the signs, most displaying sine wave patterns (except Venus), with the Moon being the most evenly distributed. The Sun, Mercury, and Venus are heavily skewed towards the houses on the Eastern horizon, while the other planets are more evenly distributed.

The following tables show the distribution of the Sun, Moon, and Mercury through the 12 signs and houses for the control group:

SIGNS

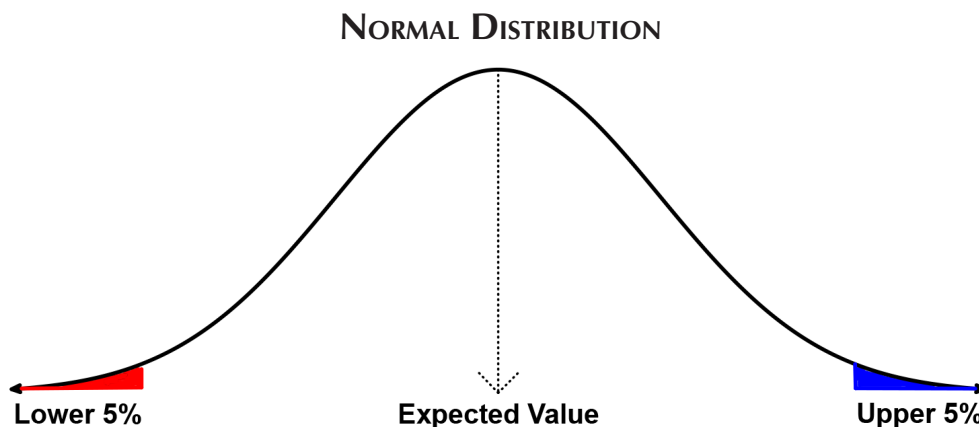

HOUSES

The method used to calculate the probability of any astrological event is to compare the actual results to the expected results. The actual results are calculated by summing the amount of times a planet is in a given position for an entire study group. The expected results are calculated with the control group.

The importance of each result is decided by finding its position on a normal curve, using the expected result as the middle point of the curve. If its position is in the upper 5%, then the probability is at least 1 in 20 and is considered statistically significant. If the result is in the upper 1%, the probability is at least 1 in 100. In this study, there are over 170 findings with odds above 1 in 1,000, which is equivalent to tossing a coin on its head 10 times in a row.

This method is used throughout the book to show the signs and planets in which each study group is dominant. For instance, there are 214 people in the Military study group. The expected number of people with the Moon in each zodiac sign is 18. In this case, 25 people with the Moon in any sign would be in the upper 5% of the Normal Curve. In the Military study group, 29 people have their Moon in the sign of Capricorn and it is, therefore, considered a significant finding with a 1 in 311 chance of being a random accident.

In the study on the zodiac signs, I analyzed the 1st harmonic, the 9th harmonic, and the 108 1/9th portions of the signs. Outer planets (Uranus, Neptune, Pluto, and Chiron) were not studied by sign since they move slowly causing all the study groups to be strong in just a few signs.

For aspects, I used the 36th harmonic, which is the first division of the zodiac containing all of the major traditional aspects as well as the nonile (40 degrees). This study shows that two planets have a meaningful relationship when in any of the 36 points spaced every 10 degrees from each other around the zodiac.

The influence of planets in the diurnal cycle was also studied. The most significant findings were found when planets are near the 4 Axis points: the Ascendant, Midheaven, Descendant, and Imum Coeli, as well as in the 12 Houses. The effect of the Rising sign was less significant. The Lunar Phases, Sun/Moon midpoints, Moon's Nodes, and Parallels of Declination were also studied with clear, meaningful results.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

- 1) The solar, lunar, daily, and inter-planetary cycles all have a four quadrant structure.
- 2) The Tropical zodiac signs likely reverse in the Southern hemisphere, since the seasons are reversed.
- 3) Traditional planetary rulerships of signs have good correlation to the signs where planets are actually strongest and weakest.
- 4) Every planet has its own diurnal arc (daily path) and its own unique set of 12 houses. The 9th house is the most beneficent, while the 4th house is the most problematic.
- 5) The Rising sign is a weak technique for assessing the persona. Its distribution is highly skewed in locations North and South of the Equator.
- 6) Libra and Aquarius should have their meanings changed. Libra is common with active, assertive thinkers and weak with many of the people-oriented and charismatic types that are strongly influenced by Aquarius and Venus.
- 7) Virgo is the most sexually active sign, yet shows the most health difficulties.
- 8) Scorpio is the most sexually magnetic sign, yet is the most deep thinking.
- 9) The 9th harmonic chart in the Tropical zodiac is highly influential. It represents the inner self, while the 1st harmonic chart represents the outer self.
- 10) The dominant inter-planetary aspect pattern is the 36th harmonic (every 10 degrees).
- 11) The Sun is combusted by other planets. The Sun functions more powerfully when it is alone in the sky and not in any aspect relationship with other planetary bodies.
- 12) Venus expresses its positive attributes best when retrograde and its negative attributes most when direct.
- 13) Mars is influential for people whose life span was under 29 years and is weak for people who have lived over 80 years.
- 14) Neptune is more often seen with materialism and deception than spirituality.
- 15) The Lunation cycle is most descriptive when divided into 12 sections symbolized by the zodiac signs.

These tables are a summary of the findings by sign and planet. For every group, the overall statistical strength of each sign was assessed by observing the results of the 1st and 9th harmonic signs, houses, Rising sign, Sun/Moon midpoint, Moon's nodes, and Lunar Phase studies. The strength of each planet was assessed by observing the results of the studies on planetary aspects, planets on the 4 Axis points, parallels of declination, Sun/Moon midpoint, Moon's nodes, and retrograde motion. Full details are shown in the study group section of the book.

PART I

ASTROLOGICAL TECHNIQUES

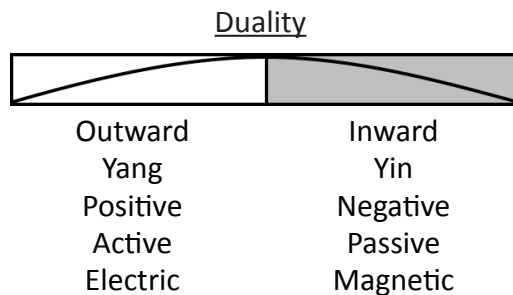

THE UNIVERSAL DESIGN

Our inner self, in its solitude, has no expression and, therefore, cannot be described with symbols. However, our inner self has a body which is composed of consciousness. We call it the soul. This represents the primordial duality, the inner and outer aspects of mind - awareness and consciousness, and is the basic principle or building block with which we create and experience our conscious reality.

The Yin-Yang symbol represents this most basic duality, from which all creation develops. The Moon's cycle is symbolic of this original duality as well. The New Moon represents Yin, subjective awareness, and the Full Moon represents Yang, objective consciousness.

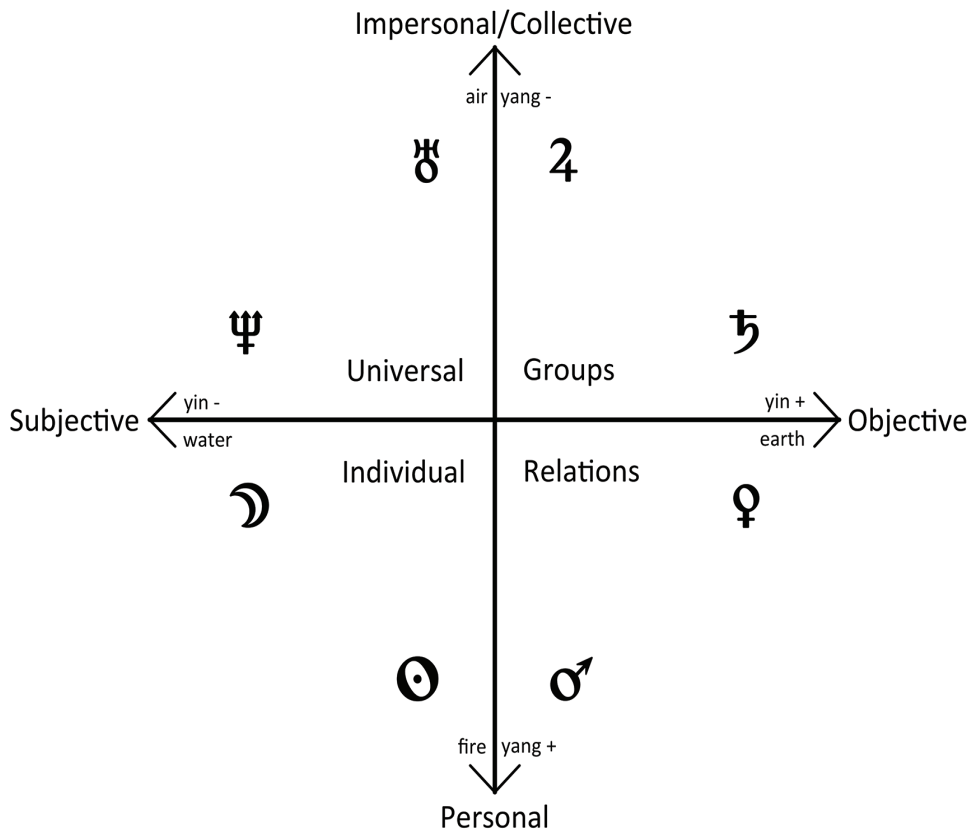

Duality and the process of creation can also be symbolized by a wave. The upward arc represents an outward movement and the downward arc represents an inward movement.

Duality takes place in four major areas of life: the individual, relations, groups, and the universal. The individual area of life represents a single unit and involves the development of a being's abilities. The relations area of life represents the interaction of two beings and involves learning how we contrast with others, how we fit in and how we stand out. The groups area of life represents the functioning of an entity composed of many beings and involves taking on responsibilities by learning how we can contribute to a group such as our family and community. The universal area of life represents the individual being's connection to the whole and involves seeking knowledge about the nature of life and finding one's higher purpose.

THE PLANETS

The planetary bodies of our solar system represent our consciousness as they express in the four major areas of life. They do this by forming duality pairs within each area. Each planetary pair expresses the polarity between outward expansion (yang) and inward unification (yin) within their field of influence. The equality and balance of each pair explains why both planets have approximately the same size (Sun and Moon have the same apparent size). The inner planets represent the personal aspects of our consciousness. The outer, gaseous planets represent the impersonal, collective aspects of our consciousness.

Individual

The Sun (yang) and Moon (yin) represent the outward and inward movements of the individual. They represent the polarity between seeking growth, through new experiences, and security, through family and home. They show how we develop our personalities and form emotional stability in childhood, and together, depict our subjective experience of being. The Sun lights our path, showing our identity and sense of purpose. It represents the father figure who inspires our life goals. The Moon warms our soul, showing our emotional needs and attachments. It represents the mother figure who secures us and nurtures our development.

Relations

Mars (yang) and Venus (yin) represent masculinity and femininity. They demonstrate the youthful dilemma of asserting our individuality vs. getting along with others and fitting in. Mars shows our physical aptitude and how we seek to separate ourselves from others in order to have freedom and differentiate ourselves. It is energetic and productive. Venus shows how we enjoy our senses and attract others toward us in order to have happy and productive relationships. It is sensual and artistic.

Groups

Jupiter (yang) and Saturn (yin) represent the expansive and contracting forces of the beliefs and values shared by groups of people. They represent our dilemma of seeking the freedom to find our own truths vs. accepting the conventional wisdom from our surroundings. They show how we take part in shaping our cultural environment and depict our experience of adulthood. Jupiter represents a person's need to grow and find ways to explore one's potential and impact social movements. Saturn represents the need to conform to our cultural expectations and assume responsibilities, becoming a productive member of society.

Universal

Uranus (yang) and Neptune (yin) represent the universal process of dreaming into and awakening from collective illusions of reality. They show us how we relate to our Universal Self which, like these two planets, is not visible to the naked eye. Together, they depict our experience of spiritual awakening, which peaks in old age. Neptune's dreaming is the Universal Self's way of imagining itself into being as a multitude of expressions in an objective universe. It represents the mystic dreamer. Uranus' awakening is the process of individuation into a unique expression of our one true self. It represents the illuminated mind with intuitive awareness.

THE ZODIAC'S QUADRANTS

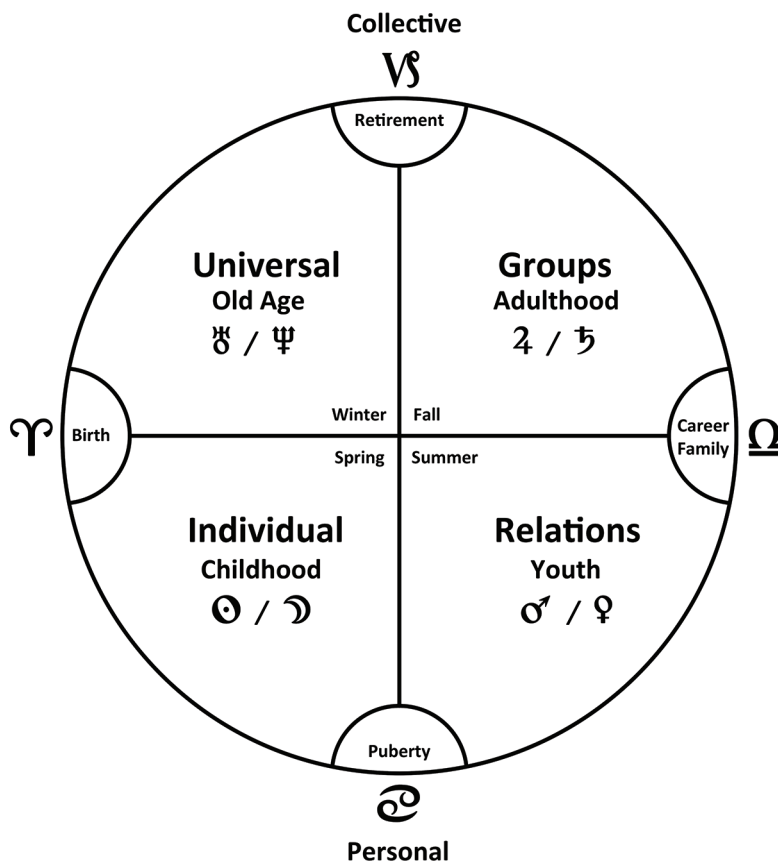

The zodiac, through which planets travel and find expression, is also a representation of the four major areas of life.

The first quadrant, which is composed of Aries, Taurus, and Gemini, represents the individual area of life. Its season is the Spring, which is a seeking and expansive time. In the life cycle, it begins at birth and represents childhood.

The second quadrant, which is composed of Cancer, Leo, and Virgo, represents the personal relations area of life. Its season is the Summer, which is a creative and joyful time of ripening. In the life cycle, it begins at puberty, and represents youth. Together, the first two quadrants represent the process of developing personal qualities and talents.

The third quadrant, which is composed of Libra, Scorpio, and Sagittarius, represents the group activities area of life. Its season is the Fall, which is a time of maturing, gaining influence and insight, and reaping the fruits of one's efforts. In the life cycle, it begins when many of us get married, start a family, and pursue a career and represents adulthood.

The fourth quadrant, which is composed of Capricorn, Aquarius, and Pisces, represents the areas of life of universal concern. Its season is the Winter, which is a contemplative and contractive time. In the life cycle, it begins at retirement, represents old age and ends at death. Together, the last two quadrants represent the process of finding one's place within the collective and gaining knowledge of life.

(Childhood lasts 12 years, ending at the first Jupiter return. Youth lasts 18 years, ending at the first Saturn return. Adulthood lasts 30 years, ending at the second Saturn return. Life's end occurs near the Uranus return and Neptune opposition at age 84.)

THE ELEMENTS

The four elements, Fire, Earth, Air, and Water, represent the prime substances of life. In the zodiac, they are represented by the signs. The Fire signs, Aries, Leo, and Sagittarius, are personal and inspired. The Earth signs, Taurus, Virgo, and Capricorn are physical and productive. The Air signs, Gemini, Libra, and Aquarius, are intellectual and sociable. The Water signs, Cancer, Scorpio, and Pisces, are healing and spiritual.

Fire, the spark of life, represents light and warmth. It represents the warm seasons, Spring and Summer. Its planets are the Sun and Mars. Earth, physical matter, is the manifester of life. It represents the dry seasons, Summer and Fall. Its planets are Venus and Saturn. Fire and Earth are masculine elements that provide us with the vast majority of our energy.

Air, representing sound and thought, is used to communicate information. It represents the cool seasons, Fall and Winter. Its planets are Mercury, Jupiter and Uranus. Water, the bringer of life, forms the rhythms of nature. It represents the wet seasons, Winter and Spring. Its planets are the Moon and Neptune. Air and Water are feminine elements which provide the spaces in which beings live and breath.

DUALITY IN THE ZODIAC

There are four types of duality in the zodiac which represent the four major areas of life:

1) The 12 signs alternate every sign from extroverted to introverted, which corresponds with the Sun/Moon duality in individuals. The Fire and Air signs are extroverted, and the Earth and Water signs are introverted.

People whose birth charts have a powerful Sun or are dominant in Fire and Air signs are outgoing and seek to express their talents in public. People with a powerful Moon or are dominant in Earth and Water signs are withdrawn and pursue their interests in private.

2) The signs alternate every two signs from masculine to feminine which corresponds with the Mars/Venus duality in relations. The Fire and Earth signs are masculine and Air and Water signs are feminine.

People whose birth charts have a powerful Mars or are dominant in Fire and Earth signs are assertive in relationships. People with a powerful Venus or are dominant in Air and Water signs are submissive and supportive in relationships.

3) The signs alternate every three signs from expansive to contractive which corresponds with the Jupiter/Saturn duality in groups. In this way, the 1st and 3rd quadrants are expansive and the 2nd and 4th quadrants are consolidating and contractive.

People whose birth charts have a powerful Jupiter or are dominant in the 1st and 3rd quadrants follow their cultural beliefs and values and may impose them on others. People with a powerful Saturn or are dominant in the 2nd and 4th quadrants are abiding of their culture's laws and values and are responsive to the opinions of others.

4) The 1st hemisphere of the zodiac, Aries through Virgo, represents personal goals and outward development. The 2nd hemisphere, Libra through Pisces, represents collective integration and the development of maturity and wisdom. This corresponds with the Uranus/Neptune duality in the universal process.

People with a powerful Uranus or are dominant in the 1st hemisphere are focused on individual development. People whose birth charts have a powerful Neptune or are dominant in the 2nd hemisphere are focused on collective integration.

THE MODES

The three modes, Cardinal, Fixed, and Mutable, represent the process of life. The Cardinal mode represents the power of creation and represents forward movement. The Fixed mode is the desire to experience love and fulfillment and represents the preservation of the present. The Mutable mode is the contemplating mind which learns from the past, decides what knowledge needs to be retained and plans for the future.

The modes cycle four times through the zodiac in the order Cardinal, Fixed, Mutable. The four quadrants of the zodiac are each composed of one mode cycle. In the first quadrant, Aries is Cardinal, Taurus is Fixed, and Gemini is Mutable. Every stage of life, represented by the quadrants, goes through the same process of the three modes.

In addition, the entire zodiac can be divided into modes. The first third of the zodiac represents the Cardinal mode, the second third represents the Fixed mode, and the final third represents the Mutable mode.

- The planetary pairs represent our consciousness which finds expression in time and space. Mercury is excluded since it represents awareness itself.
- Awakening (Uranus) and Dreaming (Neptune) refer to the process of arising into the many unique beings of the universe, then dissolving back into the one dreaming mind.
- The mode's colors are the three primary colors. Each zodiac sign's color is derived from blending its mode color with its element color.

THE QUADRANTS

The solar, lunar, daily, and inter-planetary cycles all share the same basic structure. They are each divided by four axis or cardinal points into four quadrants which correspond with the four major areas of life expression: Individual, Relations, Groups, and Universal.

Birth represents the first noticeable beginning of a process, as opposed to the Trough of the cycle, which represents the conception of an idea. The Climax represents the outermost expression of the idea and the Conclusion represents the results of the process.

These four moments represent the critical points of any cycle and each initiates their own phase or stage of existence. Birth initiates the Individual stage of existence, where we take action on our motivations. The Climax initiates the Relations stage of existence, where we fulfill our goals and interact with others. The Conclusion represents the end of personal focus and initiates the Group stage of existence, where we make use of our efforts for the collective well-being of our family and community. The Trough of the cycle initiates the Universal stage of existence, where we resolve the process and look forward to the future.

The Sun is at its trough at the Winter Solstice and Imum Coeli, where the Sun is least powerful. It is symbolically born when its light exceeds darkness at the Spring Solstice, and appears at the Ascendant. The Sun is at its peak at the Summer Solstice and Midheaven, where it shines brightest and symbolically dies when darkness exceeds light at the Fall Equinox and disappears at the Descendant.

The zodiac divides into four quadrants: 1) Aries, Taurus, and Gemini; 2) Cancer, Leo, and Virgo; 3) Libra, Scorpio, and Sagittarius; 4) Capricorn, Aquarius, and Pisces. Each quadrant shows a clear pattern, which holds to expectations. The first quadrant pertains to the individual self and personal will. The second quadrant is where the self interacts with others to achieve its will. The third quadrant is where we seek to understand others and increase our responsibilities through group interaction. The fourth quadrant is where we seek to understand life as a whole and be of service to the world.

Quadrant 1 - Individual

The main focus of these people is on developing personal qualities in order to express themselves effectively. They place great faith in their native abilities and are less inclined to trust others with tasks that they feel they can do better on their own. They tend to be self-centered and highly subjective in their judgments. They place a great value on maintaining their privacy. They see themselves as independent individuals, capable of organizing their own lives.

Quadrant 2 - Relations

These people are focused on their personal relationships. They are strongly influenced by others, for better or worse, and by acts that they do not initiate. They seek fulfillment through the development and expansion of their talents and abilities in an attempt to experience positive, fulfilling interactions with others.

Quadrant 3 - Groups

These people are highly perceptive and seek to understand others in order to have fulfilling interactions with them. They seek to achieve self-realization through giving of themselves. However, others may prove to be a drain on their energies and resources. They look for relationships with an objective, rather than personal outlook. They also want to be public and to play their part in society.

Quadrant 4 - Universal

These people seek to have a strong influence on the world at large. They are highly inspired individuals who are very much in control of their destiny. They have a tendency to seek self-fulfillment through sharing with others. Being focused on the goal of public service, they measure success by their contribution to the world. They are totally willing to consider others in life situations due to a sense of membership with humanity.

In order to see if there is any statistical evidence of the quadrants, I analyzed them using the study groups. The Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn were used. I left out the outer planets (Chiron, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto) because they are much slower moving and tend to show more of a generational (rather than personal) effect in the zodiac. I also did not use the rising sign because its distribution is heavily skewed and, therefore, has questionable value.

Through observing this study of the quadrants, we can see that people with largely personal goals are strong in quadrants 1 and 2. Sports, Fighters, and Racers showed up very strongly in Quadrant 1, verifying the idea that this sector is largely about personal ambition and asserting one's will. Quadrant 2 was strongest for sex-related groups, showing its correspondence with personal relationships. Quadrant 3 is strong with Activists and Spiritual Teachers, showing its correspondence with groups activity. Most of the groups that are strong in Quadrant 4 demonstrate creativity and mental aptitude and seek to affect the way we understand the world, thus having a broad and lasting influence on society.

ELEMENTS

The four elements are the building blocks of manifestation and embody the basic characteristics of our physical experience. Fire represents light, warmth, sight, and the directions down and South. The Fire signs, Aries, Leo, and Sagittarius, are extroverted, masculine, individualistic, sensuous, emotional, and subjective. Earth represents matter, dryness, touch, and the directions right and East. The Earth signs, Taurus, Virgo, and Capricorn, are introverted, masculine, individualistic, sensuous, rational, and objective.

Air represents the atmosphere, coolness, sound, hearing, and the directions up and North. The Air signs, Gemini, Libra, and Aquarius, are extroverted, feminine, communal, intuitive, rational, and objective. Water represents liquids, wetness, smell, taste and the directions left and West. The Water signs, Cancer, Scorpio, and Pisces, are introverted, feminine, communal, intuitive, emotional, and subjective.

The study on the four elements did not reveal too much about the nature of Fire and Earth. However, the groups that were strong in Air and Water are very representative of these elements. The groups strong in Air are highly communicative people. The groups strong in Water were largely contemplative types, which is consistent with this element's private, sensitive nature.

Fire (Sensing-Feeling)

These are warm enthusiastic people with many personal goals and aspirations. They are vital and spontaneous, often enjoying the challenge of traveling down new and adventurous roads in life. They are very personable, with much feeling. Their weakness lies in a tendency to exaggerate and be unable to cope with the more mundane activities in life.

Earth (Sensing-Thinking)

These are practical and purposeful, hands-on people. They can be relied on to take a common-sense approach to most matters. Their down-to-earth manner stands them in good stead for the daily chores of life. Their weakness lies in a stubborn refusal to make changes in their lives. They tend to stifle both their own and other people's enthusiasm.

Air (Intuitive-Thinking)

People dominated by Air like to socialize and share ideas with many people. They have a high sense of fairness, are civilized and well-mannered. They are objective and philosophical, preferring to view life from an intellectual perspective. Their rational mind outweighs feelings in decision making, since they consider the world of emotions to be irrational. As a result, they can be out of touch with their feelings.

Water (Intuitive-Feeling)

These people speak from the heart and are compassionate and caring people with a deeply intuitive, spiritual nature. They value personal relationships in which they often take on a caretaker role. They are such sympathetic and understanding people that they are often caught in the role of mother to their loved ones. Their weakness lies in the fact that they fail to take an objective perspective when necessary. They often react emotionally without thinking things through.

ELEMENT PAIRS

Combining the elements into pairs forms six dual-element temperaments. The following table shows the groups that are dominant in each particular element pair.

Fire-Earth	Fire-Air	Fire-Water	Earth-Air	Earth-Water	Air-Water
Cancer	Salespeople	Astrologers	Actors	Composers	Activists
Lawyers		Fashion	Birth Defect	Life (80+ yrs)	Child Performer

Technical		Psychiatrists		Out-of-Body	Corporate
				Philosophers	IQ (high)
				Psychiatrists	Psychics
				Royalty	Salespeople
				Spiritual Teacher	Spiritual Teacher
					Wealthy

Fire-Earth (Masculine-Sensing)

These are masculine, self-centered, aggressive people who like to be the captains of their own ships. They are concrete thinking, practical enthusiasts with tremendous self-confidence, but can be dictatorial and insensitive to others. They have a pronounced sensuality and enjoy the good life. They have strong constitutions and stay warm easily.

Air-Water (Feminine-Intuitive)

These are the most feminine, helpful people who like to make their lives about others. They have a good sense of humor and creative imaginations. They are highly intuitive, sensitive people who often find the world and its responsibilities difficult to handle. They have sensitive constitutions and get cold easily.

Fire-Water (Subjective-Feeling)

These are the most personable people since they have such great emotional enthusiasm. They enjoy passionate, emotional involvement with others but can be volatile and moody. They are highly intuitive, inner directed and creative, but find it difficult to be detached and impartial.

Earth-Air (Objective-Thinking)

These are the most impersonal, intellectual types who think out everything in advance and take life seriously. They are practical idealists who bring together abstract thought with real world know-how. They have difficulty understanding their emotions and expressing feelings.

Fire-Air (Extroverted)

These people are the most active, adventurous types who are inspired by great ideas. They are visionary, future-oriented people who lack the practicality and work ethic to complete projects. They are highly entertaining and outgoing, but get bored easily.

Earth-Water (Introverted)

These are the most self-contained, reliable types who like to accomplish long-term goals, such as family and careers. They are past-orientation people who need both emotional and material security and view change as threatening. They make trustworthy friends, but have difficulty showing enthusiasm.

DIRECTIONS

The directions of the elements often tell us what the culture is like in a given area. In the Northern Hemisphere, the Air element represents the North, the Fire element represents the South, the Earth element represents the East, and the Water element represents the West.

In Europe, people living in Northern areas, such as the Britain and Scandinavia, tend to be cool, reserved and intellectual (Air). People living in Southern areas, such as Italy and Spain, tend to be much more passionate and in the moment (Fire). People living in Eastern Europe tend to be very practical and conservative (Earth). People living in Western Europe such as the Netherlands and France tend to be very liberal and creative (Water).

In the United States, the Northeast is where the majority of our elite universities exist. This corresponds with the objective-thinking type (Air-Earth). The Southwest, especially the Los Angeles area, is where entertainment industry is strongest and the people are the most charismatic, subjective and creative. This corresponds with the subjective-feeling type (Fire-Water).

The Northwest is where the most progressive, spiritual people live, which corresponds with the feminine-intuitive type (Air-Water). The Southeast is where the central government and military complexes are located and its people are known to be conservative and practical thinking, which corresponds with the masculine-sensing type (Fire-Earth).

(In the Southern Hemisphere, the directions are reversed. Fire represents the North, Air represents the South, Earth represents the West, and Water represents the East.)

MODES

While the elements represent the substances of creation, the three modes represent the process of creation. Each experience brought into manifestation (Cardinal) is then experienced (Fixed) and eventually disappears (Mutable).

Prior to creation, there is an idea which finds lodgment in the mind, which we think about. This represents the Mutable mode. Then, we measure in our hearts how the idea feels to us. If it feels good, we build up desire for its fulfillment. This represents the Fixed mode. When desire builds to an intense level, we act upon our desire for the completion of the idea and bring it into manifestation. This represents the Cardinal mode.

The Cardinal mode represents the power of creation and the individual's ability to act upon its will through the physical body. The Fixed mode represents love and a person's heartfelt desires. The Mutable mode represents wisdom and the mind's ability to reflect.

Cardinal	Fixed	Mutable
Power	Love	Wisdom
Creation	Preservation	Dissolution
Action (Body)	Desire (Heart)	Thinking (Mind)

Aries, Cancer, Libra, and Capricorn represent the Cardinal mode. Taurus, Leo, Scorpio, and Aquarius represent the Fixed mode. Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius, and Pisces represent the Mutable mode.

Cardinal (Power)

These people are strong and forceful in their dealings. They are domineering, inherently courageous and believe in fair play. When in a good mood they exude exuberance, but when angry can be cruel and hurtful. They make friends easily, especially if they perceive that such friends will be useful to them. They have practical intelligence and tend to be impatient with anyone whose intelligence is not equally acute.

They are dedicated to their own self-development, which sometimes becomes a sort of ego-expansion. Their opinions are strongly held, and they can fall into fanaticism. They are visually oriented, and visualize almost everything they think about. They plan methodically and efficiently, and enjoy implementing new ideas that are dreamed up by more theoretical types. They love to engineer ideas into practical uses, but the extroverted, Cardinal types (Aries and Libra) have little direct interest in the day-to-day details of running a project or business.

Fixed (Love)

These people are predominantly magnetic, attractive people who most enjoy the plea-

asures of the senses and relationships. Patience, kindness and humility are common virtues. However, they often struggle with vanity, attachment, possessiveness and greed. They usually have very stable personalities. They study each project carefully before committing themselves. Once committed to a course of action, though, they see it through.

Due to a strong likability, they often attract friendships easily, but prefer to enter them slowly, ensuring that their relationships last. Innate self-satisfaction makes them less motivated for self-development than others may be and, therefore, can lack mental acuity or agility (Taurus and Leo). Their faith is steady and unshakable in whatever they believe, though it is often motivated by a desire to maintain the status quo. They do tend to be innately more compassionate than others. They often think with their emotions, which influence them more than their ideas or beliefs.

Mutable (Wisdom)

These people are highly intelligent, curious, and mentally agile. They think predominantly in words and have an acute sense of hearing. They are life-long learners who enjoy sharing knowledge. They are good original theorists, but tend to jump from idea to idea. This makes it difficult for them to convert their theories into realities, and often fail to complete the projects they start. They recognize the need for self-development but are rarely consistent with any one program.

They are sensitive and perceptive people who react quickly to changes in their environment. They are exceptionally changeable, and resist regularity in their lives because their active minds demand continual stimulation. When their energy is high, they can be the life of the party, but may burn out quickly. Sometimes they crave companionship and other times demand solitude. They usually make friends easily, but their friendships are often short-lived. Their hyper-adaptability gives them flexibility and a potential for detachment, but also tends to make them chaotic and spacey.

There are two ways of dividing the zodiac into thirds or modes. The traditional way is to take every third sign as being in the same mode. The second way of dividing the zodiac into modes is to take the first third (sector) of the zodiac as being Cardinal: Aries to Cancer; the second third as being Fixed: Leo to Scorpio; and the last third as being Mutable: Sagittarius to Pisces.

Mode Sectors

The results in both tables look quite similar in spite of being entirely different methods. The Cardinal groups are full of initiative, leadership skill, and power. The Fixed signs represent qualities such as steadfastness and stubbornness (which are true of Taurus and Scorpio, but not as much of Aquarius and Leo), but also represents love in its many positive and negative expressions. The Mutable mode is shown here to represent intelligence and mental activity.

Interestingly, they are very similar to the three doshas of Ayurveda. Therefore, assessing the balance of modes could quite possibly be used to assess a person's body type and dietary needs. (The Cardinal mode is associated with Pitta, the Fixed mode with Kapha, and the Mutable mode with Vata.)

THE LIFE CYCLE

The Cardinal phase, which starts in Aries, represents childhood and early youth, when our lives are full of change and growth. At this time, we are almost totally self-centered, full of adventure, and seek constant discovery.

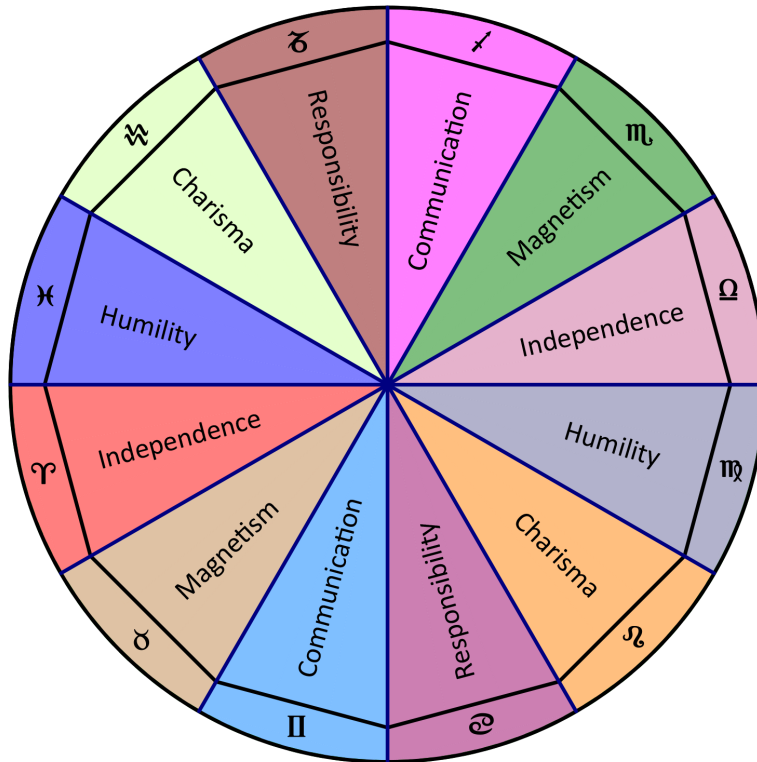

The Fixed phase starts in Leo at about 18 years of age, when many people leave home to either attend college or start a vocation. In this time period, we are concerned with establishing our place in society, building a career, falling in love, and having children.

The Mutable phase starts in Sagittarius at about 50 years of age, when we are finished having children and free to pursue our higher purpose. In this last stage of life, we utilize what we have developed and learned in order to benefit our family and community. It is also a time of reflection and letting go.

(These time periods were found by trisecting the time-span of each quadrant to find the length of each sign. The 1st quadrant lasts 12 years, 4 years/sign. The 2nd quadrant lasts 18 years, 6 years/sign. The 3rd quadrant lasts 30 years, 10 years/sign. The Fixed phase begins at the 1st return of the Moon's Node, which represents life purpose and karmic relationships. The Mutable phase begins at the 1st Chiron return, at the end of the midlife crisis.)

SIGN PAIRS OF THE ZODIAC

There are six pairs of opposing signs, which share strong connections with each other. Each pair is called an axis. The Aries-Libra axis represents freedom of action and thought. The Taurus-Scorpio axis represents depth of commitment and perception. The Gemini-Sagittarius axis represents the gaining of information. The Leo-Aquarius axis represents charisma. The Virgo-Pisces axis represents health and healing.

Axis of Independence

The Aries-Libra Axis marks the beginning of Spring and Fall and represents the moment when the Sun's daylight begins to gain or to lose dominance over darkness, the moment of gaining true freedom or the loss of it. Both signs are highly independent, seeking to do things their own way. Aries more care-free than Libra, since it is self focused while Libra seeks freedom for all.

Axis of Magnetism

Taurus and Scorpio represent the positive and negative magnetic poles of the zodiac. They draw people toward them with magnetism and sensuality. Like the trunk and roots of a tree, they are strong and stable and support the efforts of more adventurous types. People with this influence are deep thinkers who are extremely difficult to influence and will change only when they see fit. They get attached to their goals, which are pursued with determination and patience.

Axis of Communication

Geminis and Sagittarians are highly curious people who love to learn and share information. They are highly intelligent and articulate and quite comfortable in front of an audience. They are versatile, humorous people who can be the life of a party. Geminis are interested in concrete information, while Sagittarians are more concerned with beliefs.

Axis of Responsibility

The Cancer-Capricorn Axis represents the beginning of Summer and Winter and represents the moment of the Sun's greatest strength and weakness. Cancer is the most warm, loving sign while Capricorn is the most reserved, serious of signs. As a result, Cancers are highly effective caregivers and Capricorns are well-built for taking on hard work and the burdens of others.

Axis of Charisma

Leos and Aquarians are the two most attractive types of people. Even if not beautiful, they are very distinctive, with noticeable character traits. This makes them well-suited for public positions and involvements with a variety of people. They are likable and know how to put their best foot forward.

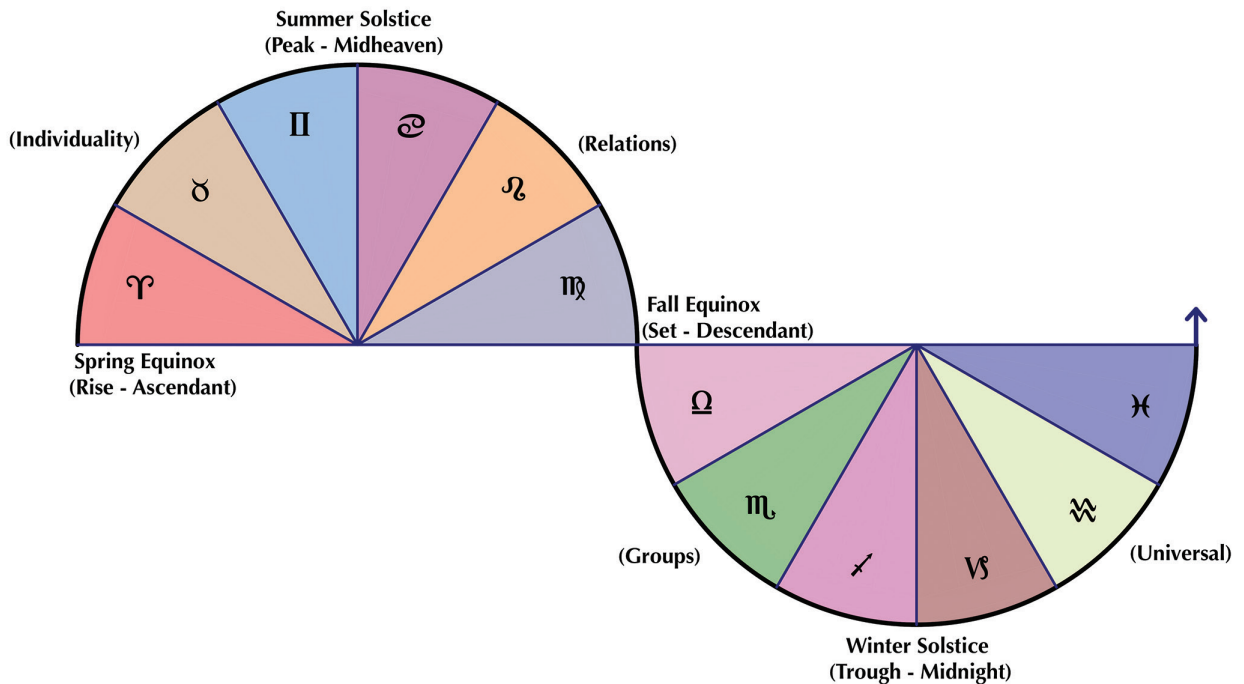

Axis of Humility

Virgo and Pisces represent the exposure and healing of one's weaknesses. The humility and understanding gained in these signs is meant as a natural remedy for the pride and vanity often accrued in the previous signs, Leo and Aquarius. Both Virgos and Pisceans seek to remove themselves from the spotlight in order to think and reflect upon issues that concern them.

Independence (♈-♉)	Magnetism (♊-♋)	Communication (♌-♍)	Responsibility (♎-♏)	Charisma (♐-♑)	Humility (♒-♓)
Obesity	Actors	Singers	Adopted	Comedians	Alcoholics
Salespeople	Business	Stroke	Alzheimer's	Education (low)	Cancer

THE ZODIAC SIGNS

The seasonal shifts of light and heat on Earth are measured by the ecliptic, which modulates like a sine wave. The zodiac is the division of the ecliptic into 12 equal sections which represent the phases of every light wave. And, since all things are made of light, the zodiac shows the process of all things. (Divine ideas cause the repetition of light waves to appear as stable objects in our minds.)

Aries through Virgo represent the upper half of the wave. Cancer is at its peak and, for this reason, our Presidents and Corporate leaders are often born with Cancer dominant in their birth charts. Libra through Pisces represent the lower half of the wave. Capricorn is at its trough and, for this reason, our Military, who sublimate themselves for the needs of the group, are born with Capricorn most dominant in their birth charts.

Since the Earth is divided into two hemispheres, their inhabitants experience the seasons in opposite order (just as opposite sides of Earth reverse day and night). Therefore, the signs of the ecliptic are opposite in opposing hemispheres and two people born at the same time in opposing hemispheres will have opposite influences from the planets. If one person has their Sun in Aries, the other will have their Sun in Libra.

For this reason, I excluded Southern Hemisphere birth charts from the study groups, except for the Obesity group, which is entirely Southern Hemisphere charts. In Appendix 6, groups of Actors and Politicians from both hemispheres are compared.

In this study, most of the signs revealed themselves to have strength in the type of groups that astrologers would have predicted. For instance, Aries is strong for Sports figures. Taurus is strong for the groups Same Job 10+ years, Life Long 80+ years, and Marriage 15+ years. Gemini is strong for Singers. Cancer is strong for the Teachers K-12. Leo is strong for Models. Virgo is strong for Medical practitioners. Libra is strong for Activists. Scorpio is strong for Mystics and Psychiatrists. Sagittarius is strong for Scientists. Capricorn is strong for Military and Technical professions. Pisces is strong for Artists.

However, some of the signs showed surprising results. For instance, Virgo is strongest for sex related groups such as Sex Abuse victims, Sex Offenders, and Sex Workers. In addition, Aquarius is strong for groups of attractive people with relationship success such as Actors, Comedians, and Marriage 15+ years, while Libra is strong for Activists and High IQ people. This led to the conclusion that Aquarius actually behaves in the manner traditionally used for Libra and that planets in Libra have Aquarian traits such as rebelliousness. (A full discussion is shown in the section Libra vs. Aquarius.)

For each sign, there are compact descriptions which are intended as aids for interpreting the statistical results. I have assigned each sign with a new name, giving a more modern understanding to them.

The tables show which groups were strongest in each of the 12 signs. The strongest individual planetary positions and overall sign strengths are both shown. The overall sign strength was calculated by totaling the sum of findings for all seven planetary bodies (Sun through Saturn) for each study group. I did not apply any sort of weighting to the Sun or Moon as is typical among astrologers, since I did not want to influence the study with preconceptions. Study group findings that show a positive or neutral common theme are highlighted in blue or yellow, while results with a negative theme are highlighted in red.

ARIES ♈ "THE ACHIEVER"

AXIS OF INDEPENDENCE

QUADRANT: INDIVIDUAL
TEMPERAMENT: EXTROVERT

ELEMENT: FIRE
GENDER: MASCULINE

MODE: CARDINAL
PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Aries individuals are self-reliant and ambitious in nature. They are born leaders who love freedom. They hate to be subordinate to people and fare well only when they are their own bosses. Impatient and restless, Arians are quick-tempered and can get offended easily. However, their temper is short-lived and they will cool down just as quickly as they get angry. Their courageous and hard-working nature is the key to their success.

They are regarded as champions, who can turn any situation into a victory. They are brave and always ready to fight for a good cause. Arians have both moral and physical courage to fight against unfair and unjust situations. They have a candid nature and are quite affectionate. Arians are very expressive, outspoken, alert, analytical, quick to make decisions, generous in nature, and are always glowing with energy.

The Arian enthusiasm and aggression are seen with Nazis, Racers, Salespeople, Sports. The analytical side of Aries, which is associated with Mars, is most apparent with the groups Math-Physics, Professors, and Technical. The majority of groups with the Sun strong in Aries are very deep thinking people. The Sun is exalted in Aries and is a position of great success. The Moon's most difficult position is in Aries.

Taureans are slow and methodical individuals with a relaxed and laid-back temperament. They are warm, sensual, loving by nature and can easily display care and affection for others. They love peace and hate quarreling. They are generally noted to be quite good looking and have attractive personalities. They usually have an artistic bent of mind and are great lovers of music, art, and beauty.

Taureans are practical and materialistic and known for their down-to-earth approach. They have tremendous patience, immense will power and self-discipline. Once they make up their minds, there is nothing in the world that can deter them from their decisions. Taureans are not risk-takers and always weigh their decisions carefully.

The Taurean stability is evidenced through the groups Children 4+, Life Long 80+ years, and Same Job 10+ years. Taureans are also known for their deep, rich voices, which is seen with Singers being prominent in this sign. Taurus is especially frequent with musicians.

Taurus is ruled by Venus and is its best position. Mars is in detriment in Taurus and is its most difficult position (along with Virgo).

Geminis are bright, witty, entertaining individuals who are adaptable in all situations. They have an optimistic outlook on life and are always ready to take up new activities. Curiosity is the driving force for Geminis, who want to satisfy their quest for knowledge. However, they rarely get deeply involved in one particular task or interest since their attention span is very limited and they get diverted easily.

Geminis are egocentric and restless individuals who are often unstable and unpredictable, especially in relationships. A popular belief amongst Geminis is that life must be lived to the fullest, which makes them enjoyable companions.

Gemini's talent for thinking is mainly seen with the Moon, which is strong with Journalists, Poets, and Writers. Business Owners are strong with many different planets in Gemini, showing their cleverness and skill working with people.

Mars is the strongest planet in Gemini. Mercury, thought to rule Gemini, is strong for Astrologers and Mystics.

CANCER ☽ "THE CARETAKER"

AXIS OF RESPONSIBILITY

QUADRANT: RELATIONS

ELEMENT: WATER

MODE: CARDINAL

TEMPERAMENT: INTROVERT

GENDER: FEMININE

PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Cancers are good listeners and are caring by nature, with a streak of possessiveness. They are kind and sympathetic to the problems of others. Cancers are reliable, sincere, dedicated, responsible and determined. They are, by and large, good looking, with a very pleasing personality. They love the comfort and security of their homes and will usually be the most pampered ones in the family.

Childhood memories play an influential role in the minds of Cancer individuals, who can have an affinity for living in the past. They are introspective but also imaginative and can become victims of fantasy. They are very moody and can get aggressive at times. While Cancers are usually emotional, romantic and sentimental, when feeling defensive they can be thick-skinned, unemotional, uncompromising, and stubborn.

The nurturing nature of Cancer is strongly shown by the strength of the Culinary and Teachers K-12 groups. Cancer's association with childhood is seen with Child Prodigy and Infant Mortality.

The Sun is the most beneficent planet in Cancer, while the Moon is surprisingly uncomfortable in its ruled sign. Saturn is weak in its sign of detriment.

LEO ☉ "THE LEADER"
 AXIS OF CHARISMA

QUADRANT: RELATIONS
TEMPERAMENT: EXTROVERT

ELEMENT: FIRE
GENDER: MASCULINE

MODE: FIXED
PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Leos are enthusiastic individuals, who are quite affable and pleasing in nature. They have a creative bent of mind, are self-expressive, intelligent, and broad-minded. Leos love to be the center of attention and crave flattery. They have a flair for luxury, love to be pampered, and are generous in nature. But, they are also lazy, arrogant, and very possessive of loved ones.

Born leaders, Leos are known to be ambitious, courageous, strong-willed, positive, independent and self-confident. When placed in commanding situations, Leos tend to fare extremely well. However, they can become short-tempered and blunt, if aggravated. They are prone to short periods of depression, but also know how to bounce back to become their cheery and jovial selves.

The attention loving aspect of Leo is seen through the strength of the groups Models and Politicians. Leo's dominant nature is mainly seen in the placement of Saturn with Police Officers, Politicians, and Sports Coaches.

This is a strong position for Saturn, even though Leo is its sign of detriment.

VIRGO ♍ "THE PERFECTIONIST"

AXIS OF HUMILITY

QUADRANT: RELATIONS

ELEMENT: EARTH

MODE: MUTABLE

TEMPERAMENT: INTROVERT

GENDER: MASCULINE

PERSPECTIVE: OBJECTIVE

Virgos are conservative, reserved, polite and soft spoken. They are methodical and practical in the way they lead their lives and have a logical, detail-oriented mindset. They are strong-willed and pursue their goals with determination. They appreciate things of beauty, are very tidy by nature, and like to keep their surroundings organized and clean.

Virgos can be emotionally cold, critical of others, and hesitant to commit themselves to new relationships. A Virgo individual expects a lot from others and from themselves. They have strong guilt complexes, since they distrust emotion and sexuality. This causes much difficulty for them. Their need for control and fear of chaos and injury often lead them to the very experiences they seek to avoid.

As a result, Virgo is extremely frequent with people who have suffered difficulties in their lives, such as AIDS, Cancer, Drug Abuse, and Heart Attack victims. The sex-related groups are also very strong in Virgo as it helps ease their anxieties (which completely contradicts its traditional name of the Virgin).

Overall, Virgo is the most difficult sign position, especially for Venus, Mars, and Saturn.

Librans are thoughtful, insightful, and sociable people with the ability to charm their many friends and associates. The most distinct characteristic of Librans is their direct presentation. Librans are active and open-minded by nature and are highly inclusive. They have a true distaste for injustice or any form of ugliness. Though Librans are peace-loving by nature, they are quick to stand up for others. Librans can often be found in self-help movements that promote higher standards of well-being and goodness in all.

The Sun and Saturn in Libra is strong for groups of people that are thoughtful in nature and need to express their ideas. Libra is in exaltation for Saturn, but in fall for the Sun. Jupiter appears to be the most difficult planet in Libra.

SCORPIO ♏ "THE DEEP DIVER"

AXIS OF MAGNETISM

QUADRANT: GROUPS
TEMPERAMENT: INTROVERT

ELEMENT: WATER
GENDER: FEMININE

MODE: FIXED
PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Scorpios are known for their intense, magnetic, and powerful natures. They believe life is meant to be lived to the fullest and show incredible dedication to their goals. Scorpios have outstanding imaginations and intuitive powers. A mysterious aura surrounds them and people always find something exciting and fascinating about them. They may look reserved, but are always aware of everything that goes on around them or concerns them. Scorpio's deep insight into everything makes them difficult to be understood.

Scorpios are totally committed in relationships, but once threatened or betrayed, they can display highly manipulative, possessive behavior. When their deep attachments are threatened, they are willing to do anything necessary to hold on to a cherished person, goal or idea. It is, therefore, extremely important for Scorpios to maintain their integrity.

Scorpio's profound, deep-thinking nature is shown with the strength of groups such as Astrologers, Mystics, Psychiatrists, and Spiritual Teachers. Their tendency towards difficult life situations is seen with AIDS patients, Child Abuse Victims, Criminals, Mental Illness, Prisoners, and Transvestites.

Jupiter's best position is in Scorpio, with many people achieving notoriety.

SAGITTARIUS "THE SEEKER"

AXIS OF COMMUNICATION

QUADRANT: GROUPS

ELEMENT: FIRE

MODE: MUTABLE

TEMPERAMENT: EXTROVERT

GENDER: MASCULINE

PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Sagittarians are optimistic, full of energy, and have versatile, adventurous minds. They are quick learners and profound philosophical thinkers, gifted with foresight and good judgment. They enjoy traveling and exploring new places and are continually searching for new experiences. They love challenges in life and live by their own standards.

They are social beings who love to share ideas and entertain others, but are very forthright, sometimes to the point of being rude. Sagittarians are susceptible to anger, but easily get back to their cheerful selves. They are often found pursuing goals in new projects, which can be demanding for other people around them. It can be difficult to be in relationships with them, since they seek trust from others while requiring freedom for themselves.

The Sagittarian urge to understand life is seen with the frequency of Scientists in this sign. The Moon in Sagittarius is especially strong for technical groups, while Jupiter is strong for creative thinkers.

Mars is strong for people with mental problems, while Saturn is common for socially defiant people.

CAPRICORN ♄ "THE MOUNTAIN CLIMBER"

AXIS OF RESPONSIBILITY

QUADRANT: UNIVERSAL
TEMPERAMENT: INTROVERT

ELEMENT: EARTH
GENDER: MASCULINE

MODE: CARDINAL
PERSPECTIVE: OBJECTIVE

Capricorns are hard-working, trustworthy, and reliable people. They take life seriously, are self-contained, and self-satisfied. Mostly cautious, confident, strong-willed, reasonable and hard working, Capricorns are as steady as a rock. They love being at the top of the ladder and being in commanding, respectable and rewarding positions of authority. Rational, logical and clearheaded, Capricorns have great concentration skills which help them in achieving success in life.

However, Capricorns tend to be pessimistic, suspicious, resentful, and stubborn individuals. Though surrounded by friends, they are lonely at heart. They can spread gloom and tension in a minute and are quite capable of depressing everyone around them. They often feel burdened by responsibilities, which others, they feel, leave neglected.

Capricorn is strong for analytical groups such as Math-Physics, Scientists, and Technical. Fighters and the Military reveal the hard-working, tough, durable side of this sign.

Mercury is very creative and philosophical in Capricorn. Mars, exalted in Capricorn, is strong with highly intelligent groups of people. The Moon, in its detriment, is common with people who experience much conflict with others.

AQUARIUS ♒ "THE HUMANIST"

AXIS OF CHARISMA

QUADRANT: UNIVERSAL

ELEMENT: AIR

MODE: FIXED

TEMPERAMENT: EXTROVERT

GENDER: FEMININE

PERSPECTIVE: OBJECTIVE

Aquarians are intelligent, clear and logical people. They have high intellectual ability and are usually pathfinders for society. They have strong convictions and do not easily accept when they are wrong. When engaged in serious conversation they are edgy, enthusiastic and lively. Aquarians are in favor of reforms, change, and advancement of the human race, while hating dishonesty and treachery.

Since they love to read, write and contemplate the world, they need time to themselves. Such is their peace-loving nature that they would do their best to cooperate and compromise with everyone around them. For this reason, they are highly appreciated and tend to have long, close relationships.

Aquarius is strong with groups that are especially talented in relating to others such as Actors, Comedians, Marriage 15+ yrs, and Salespeople.

The Moon, Mercury, and Saturn show very positive results in Aquarius, with many creative, intelligent people. The Sun in Aquarius gives highly successful groups of people, but also those who cause or are subjected to violence.

PISCES ♃ "THE ARTISAN"

AXIS OF HUMILITY

QUADRANT: UNIVERSAL

ELEMENT: WATER

MODE: MUTABLE

TEMPERAMENT: INTROVERT

GENDER: FEMININE

PERSPECTIVE: SUBJECTIVE

Pisceans are friendly and pleasant by nature, with a true sense of kindness and compassion. They are highly non-judgmental and understanding people. They enjoy time alone where they use their highly intuitive and imaginative minds for spiritual and artistic pursuits. They have a great adaptive quality and can change with the times.

Pisceans lack decisiveness and can get diverted from their purpose easily. They can be impractical dreamers and are disorganized in things large and small, causing distress to people near them. They often get involved in religious pursuits, enjoying the ideas and leadership of others. They do not attach great value to money and would rather spend on others than increase their own level of comfort and luxuries. This leaves them vulnerable to people less considerate than themselves.

Pisces' reflective and creative nature is most demonstrated by the frequency of Artists and brilliant thinkers in this sign. Mercury in Pisces shows itself to be a very good position for intelligent thought, in spite of being its fallen position.

Pisces is the last sign of the zodiac and represents the final stage of life. People with beneficial planets in this sign tend to live long lives, since they enjoy reclusive living.

THE 9TH HARMONIC

The path of the Sun, known as the ecliptic, can be divided in many different ways. The Babylonians divided the zodiac into 12 signs, the Egyptians divided it into 36 decans, and the Vedic astrologers of India use 27 lunar mansions (nakshatras).

Many astrologers also find that important astrological information can be found by using harmonics, which are created by dividing the zodiac into sections, each with 12 smaller zodiac signs. A harmonic has the same pattern as the zodiac, but is smaller to the exact ratio of the harmonic being used. (This is fractal geometry applied to the zodiac.) Here is an example of a simple pattern repeating itself up to 3 times:

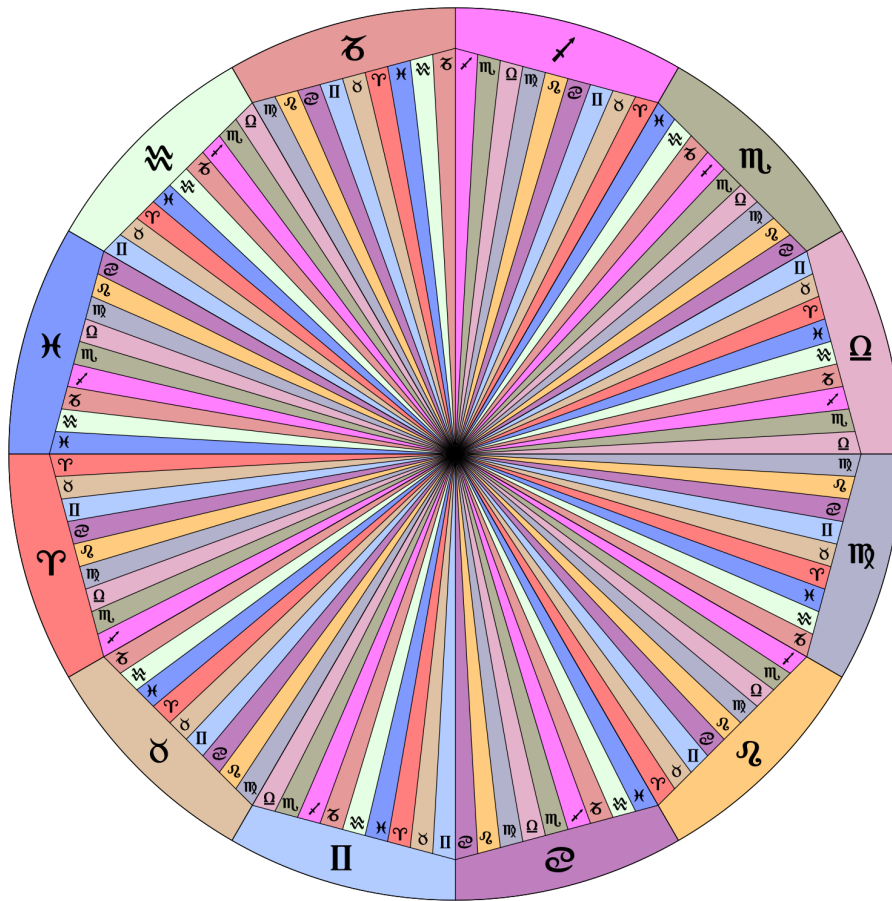

For years, astrologers have been seeking to gain knowledge of the meaning of planetary positions in various harmonics. The theory is that each harmonic has its own interpretation and can be used to describe specific aspects of life. For instance, in Vedic astrology, the 10th harmonic is used to describe a person's vocation and professional success. The strengths and weaknesses of this chart would be interpreted to describe your career. The 12th harmonic is taken to describe one's parents.

The most widely used method is to divide the zodiac into 9 equal sections, with 108 signs in total (9x12). This is called the 9th harmonic of the zodiac. In this harmonic, there are 9 places on the ecliptic where each sign can be found. These signs are 1/9th their original size, but add to 30 degrees in total. A chart can be created where planets in each sign are combined together into a 12 sign diagram, looking just like a normal birth chart.

In Vedic astrology, the 9th harmonic is called the Navamsha chart and represents relationships. It is considered the inner counterpart to the 1st harmonic or natal chart. The 1st harmonic is the tree, the 9th harmonic is the fruit. The 1st harmonic is the outer or visible life, while the 9th harmonic shows the soul of a person.

Planetary positions in the 9th harmonic have great importance in our birth charts, adding tremendous depth to the analysis. For instance, a person with their Sun in the Scorpio navamsha of Gemini will be far more introspective and intense than a typical Gemini. Also, conjunctions of planets in the 9th harmonic chart shine right through as major forces in our personalities, which are usually hidden from sight in the normal birth chart.

Any astrological analysis not including the 9th harmonic chart will only give a partial picture of a person. The 9th harmonic chart will often be the more dynamic chart and dominate the character of the individual. In these cases, the 1st harmonic chart will not be as relevant to the character of the person.

In my analysis of the 9th harmonic of the Tropical (seasonal) zodiac, just as many key findings were seen as in the 1st harmonic study and it was found that the two harmonics even have a strong correlation with each other. Twenty-three of the 93 study groups were statistically strong in the same sign(s) in both the 1st & 9th harmonics. If there were no correlation between the influences of planetary positions in the two harmonics, then only about 5 study groups would have been strong in the same sign, which is what was found when I studied the Constellation (Sidereal) zodiac. This is almost 5 times greater than expected, with a probability of 1 in 14,000 of being a random accident.

Even more importantly, the signs in which these study groups were strong could have been anticipated through knowledge of the zodiac signs. For instance, Child Prodigies were strong in both harmonics in nurturing, home-loving Cancer, while Military

NAVAMSHAS

Navamsha is the name for the 1/9th portions of each zodiac sign in Vedic astrology. Navam means nine in the Tamil language spoken in Southern India.

For each sign, a compact description of its navamshas is shown below as well as a listing of the groups with statistical strength in each navamsha. These listings help us to understand which sections contribute the most for each study group. The planetary effects vary in different portions of each sign.

For instance, we see that Astrologers are strong in 1st harmonic Scorpio. But in reality, Astrologers are not strong in every part of Scorpio. They are actually strongest in the Scorpio and Sagittarius navamshas of Scorpio. Similarly, Musicians are not strong in every part of Pisces. They are strongest in the Leo and Pisces navamshas of Pisces. This adds great detail to the evaluation of planetary positions in the zodiac.

This study also shows us that the effects of sign-navamsha combinations can vary greatly. In Aries, the Gemini navamsha was strong for those with Psychics. However, in Taurus, the Gemini navamsha was strong for those with Mental Illnesses. The mental aptitude for which Gemini is known clearly expresses itself much better in Aries than Taurus.

There were many cases where reversing the sign and navamsha yielded the same result::

Group	Sign-Navamsha	Sign-Navamsha
Fashion Designers	Taurus-Leo	Leo-Taurus
Composers	Gemini-Capricorn	Capricorn-Gemini
Lesbians	Cancer-Leo	Leo-Cancer
Sex Workers	Cancer-Leo	Leo-Cancer
Military	Virgo-Capricorn	Capricorn-Virgo

In other cases, reversing the sign and navamsha gave reversed effects:

Group	Sign-Navamsha
Murderers	Taurus-Leo
Suicide	Leo-Taurus
Criminals	Scorpio-Aquarius
Police Officers	Aquarius-Scorpio
Psychiatrists	Cancer-Scorpio
Mental Illness	Scorpio-Cancer
Nazis	Scorpio-Aquarius
Murder Victims	Aquarius-Scorpio

LIBRA VS AQUARIUS

A question that I came across while doing this project was whether the current interpretations of Libra and Aquarius are accurate.

In the study of those who were Married for 15 years or more, Aquarius was the dominant sign. How could this be the case, if Aquarians are such independent, rebellious people? Well, they are not! That description better fits Libras (Scales of Justice), which was a dominant sign in the study of Activists, High IQ, Lawyers, and Teachers.

Many of the groups that are associated with attractiveness and relationships are statistically strong in Aquarius and weak in Libra (Comedians, Marriage 15+ years, Salespeople). This occurs in both the 1st harmonic and 9th harmonic studies.

Also, the groups that represent abundance and longevity are strong in Aquarius and weak in Libra (Children 4+, Marriage 15+ years, Long Life 80+, Same Job 10+). This is because the Fixed mode represents love and preservation, while the Cardinal mode represents initiative and power (the Mutable mode represents knowledge and wisdom). As a result, the three Air signs each have vastly different purposes for connecting with people:

1) Libra is a Cardinal sign, which seeks active manifestation of power through communication; 2) Aquarius is a Fixed sign, which seeks to share its love of knowledge through relationship; and 3) Gemini is a Mutable sign, which seeks to increase its awareness through communication.

Venus, the planet of love, beauty, and relationships, has many groups that are strong in the studies on Venus aspects and Venus on the Ascendant also strong in Aquarius (Actors, Artists, Children 4+, Culinary, and Salespeople). Actors, a group clearly focused on attractiveness, is strongest in Aquarius and with Venus on the Ascendant.

Finally, the Greek myth of Aquarius, the Water Bearer, was of a beautiful prince who Zeus wanted to be his lover. In order to have the boy nearby, Zeus gave him the role of water bearer. This is a Venusian theme. In 1877, the British astrologer Raphael described Aquarians as “Stable, good, kind-hearted, scientific, fond of learning and recreation, gentle, and even-tempered.” These descriptions are a far cry from the current depiction of Aquarius as rebellious and eccentric. It is Librans who stand up for ideas and seek truth and justice, just as its Scales of Justice symbol would suggest. This change occurred in the 20th century largely due to Aquarius being associated with Uranus.

For all these reasons, I conclude that Libra and Aquarius should have their interpretations restored to their original meanings. Libra is direct and decisive, both intellectually and interpersonally, while Aquarius is more diplomatic and thoughtful.

Below is a table comparing the statistical results from the study of the signs Libra and Aquarius. Both the 1st and 9th harmonic findings are listed for each sign. The groups highlighted in blue are strong in Aquarius and Venus. No groups are strong in Libra and Venus! The groups highlighted in red are weak in Libra and strong in Aquarius or Venus. The groups that fit the Venusian model of an attractive, sociable type are strong in Aquarius and weak in Libra, while only Activists are strong in Libra and weak in Aquarius.

As an example, here is the chart of Marilyn Monroe – perhaps the greatest sex symbol the USA has ever known. She is Air-Water dominant, which is the Feminine-Intuitive type. But, she also has a Moon-Jupiter conjunction in Aquarius. Current astrology would interpret this to indicate having great imagination, intellectual ability, and an independent nature. It makes much more sense if these planets were interpreted in the manner currently attributed to Libra. The interpretation would change to her having incredibly feminine beauty and refined people skills!

Hugh Hefner, the owner of Playboy magazine and the notorious playboy mansion, has Mars conjunct Jupiter in Aquarius and a Moon-Venus conjunction in Pisces. No planets are in Libra, yet Aquarius and Venus are very strong.

Nicola Tesla, the great scientist and inventor, has the Moon conjunct Mars in Libra, yet no planets in Aquarius. (He also has a Mercury-Jupiter conjunction in Gemini in the 9th harmonic chart.)

THE DIURNAL CYCLE

The earliest form of astrology was probably based on the diurnal cycle of the Sun in our sky, since it has such noticeable effects on human life. It is based on the Earth's rotation on its axis, called primary motion. We wake up when the Sun is rising at the Eastern horizon (the Ascendant) and end each day of work with the setting Sun at the Western horizon (the Descendant). Noon is when the Sun is at its highest point in the sky (the Midheaven), and the heart of the night, midnight, is when the Sun is at its opposite point (the Imum Coeli - Latin for "the bottom of the sky"). The rising and setting points on the ecliptic gives us the East-West axis (though only due East or West at the Equinoxes). The ecliptic's highest point above the horizon and lowest point below the horizon gives us the South-North axis (which is reversed in the Southern hemisphere).

The rising, noontime, setting, and midnight positions of the Sun give us these four major axis points. The idea that these four points are powerful positions for the Sun was then extended to the rest of the visible planetary bodies. A representation of these axis points is that of two intersecting lines with the circle, representing the Sun, traveling clockwise, suggesting similarities with the cross of the Christian faith. (The cross could also be taken to represent the Sun's annual path through the zodiac. Both interpretations symbolize the self's journey through time and space.)

These four axis points have very specific and distinct meanings. Planets on the Ascendant are taken to have a definite influence on how a person is seen and expresses their personality. It represents the moment of waking up from sleep and initiating plans for the day. Planets on the Midheaven influence one's public efforts and career status. It represents the time of aspiring towards goals at work or school.

Planets on the Descendant indicate the type of people you tend to encounter in your life. It represents the moment of leaving work or school and relaxing with friends and family.

Planets on the Imum Coeli indicate the nature of your private life and represents the moment of going to sleep.

The Midheaven-Imum Coeli axis represents the basic foundations and responsibilities of one's life: home (IC) and public life (MC). The Ascendant-Descendant axis represents the creative and social aspects of one's life: self-expression (Asc) and relationships (Dsc). It is much like the base of a tree and its branches, which intertwine with the branches of other trees.

In studying the diurnal cycle of the planets, I tested the effect of the zodiac sign on the Ascendant. The Rising sign is thought to have tremendous influence on the way we express ourselves in public, our persona. However, the results of this study led me to question its effectiveness. I also tested the effect planets have at the axis points, in the spaces between the axis points (houses), as well as above or below the horizon.

People who are born above the horizon are thought to exist in the open, visible world with their predominant activities taking place in the daytime (highlighted in blue). People who are born below the horizon are thought to exist beneath view, functioning in private with their predominant activities taking place in the night.

In the study, most, if not all, of the groups of people born at night were people who do most of their productive work or activities in private (highlighted in red). The groups of people born in the daytime were more mixed between people with a public and private orientation.

THE FOUR AXIS POINTS

Every planetary body crosses the four axis points throughout each day. The Sun always crosses the Eastern horizon on the ecliptic. However, the other planetary bodies do not move strictly on the ecliptic. They move above and below the ecliptic as well. This movement is called latitude, while movement along the ecliptic is called longitude.

Since all planets besides the Sun have a latitude movement, they usually do not cross the Eastern horizon while on the ecliptic. Nor do the planets always cross the horizon at the same time as its zodiacal degree, since the ecliptic is not usually perpendicular to the horizon. The planets mostly cross the Eastern horizon before or after its zodiacal degree crosses the Eastern horizon. The same is true at the Western horizon. Each planet has its own unique orbit around the Sun as well its own diurnal arc around the Earth.

The result is that planets which are measured to be conjunct the Ascendant or Descendant are often not on the horizon at all. A planet which is shown above the Ascendant or Descendant in a birth chart will often actually be below the horizon and vice versa.

Typically, planets are less than two zodiacal degrees away from the Ascendant or Descendant when they are on the horizon. However, the Moon is frequently five degrees away. Pluto, which can have a very high latitude, could be more than 30 zodiacal degrees away from the Ascendant or Descendant when it is actually on the horizon, especially for locations far from the Equator.

As a result, using the ecliptic to calculate when a planet is near the horizon creates imprecise results. When measuring a planet's distance from the horizon, each planet's arc must be calculated individually. The method used in this study was to divide each of the four quadrants of a planet's diurnal arc into 1/10 portions. A planet in a 1/10 portion of its diurnal arc next to an axis point would be considered to be on that axis point.

For instance, the Sun on the Ascendant would be 9 degrees above or below the horizon, which is 10% of 90 degrees (for a perfectly square axis cross). Any planet would be considered on its Ascendant if it were within 10% of its arc above or below the Eastern horizon. For the Midheaven, a planet would be within 10% of its upper arc to the East of the Midheaven or to the West, being the highest 5% of its total diurnal arc.

The Midheaven and Imum Coeli are the same for the Sun and all planetary bodies, since these points define the peak and low point of the diurnal cycle, being the midpoint of each day and night. In the Northern hemisphere, the Midheaven points directly due South and the Imum Coeli points due North.

In the study of the planets on the four axis points, most categories fit with the traditional meanings for the planets. The Sun, representing leadership, is strong for Politicians, Professors, and the Military on the Midheaven. The Moon, representing femininity, is strong for Models on the Eastern horizon. Mercury, representing the intellect, is strong for Mystics, Priests, and Psychics on the Eastern horizon. However, the Moon on the Western horizon is also an indication of loneliness, being strong with people who are unmarried and childless.

Venus, representing the arts, pleasure, and attractiveness, is strong for Actors, Artists, Culinary, and Models on the Eastern horizon. On the Imum Coeli, Venus is strong for contemplatives such as Poets and Spiritual Teachers since these people enjoy solitude. Mars, representing technical ability, is strong for Mathematicians-Physicists, Scientists, and Technical people on the Eastern horizon. Mars' more harmful side is seen on the Midheaven, being strong for Criminals and Drug Abusers.

Jupiter, representing positivity, exploration, and success, is strong for Actors, Nobel Prize winners, Presidents, and members of Royalty on the Eastern horizon. Saturn, which represents discipline and endurance, was surprisingly strong for Actors and Models on the Eastern horizon and strong for Astrologers, Mystics, and Psychics on the Midheaven.

Uranus, representing awakening, is strong for people with high IQs on the Eastern horizon, but did not show any strong pattern across the study groups. Neptune, representing spirituality, is strong for Astrologers, Mystics, and Psychiatrists on the Eastern horizon.

Pluto, representing power and the taboo, is strong for Fighters and Athletes on the Midheaven and Criminals and Murderers on the Imum Coeli. Chiron, representing wounds, is strong for Criminals and Suicides on the Western horizon and strong for people with AIDS, Birth Defects, and Murderers on the Imum Coeli.

HOUSES

Houses are divisions of space created by the daily rotation of Earth on its axis. Originally, the usage of the word house and sign were synonymous. Later, houses became a method for counting the number of signs from the Rising sign, the sign on the Ascendant, to the planetary sign positions. Today, there are many house systems, all starting from the Ascendant and following the path of the ecliptic.

The most commonly used house systems in the West divide the space surrounding the Earth using the horizon and Midheaven to create four quadrants, just like the four seasons. Each of these quadrants can then be trisected to create 12 sections called houses. It is thought that these 12 houses correspond in meaning to the 12 signs of the ecliptic.

Western astrology is founded upon two cycles: 1) the annual cycle, with its four seasons and 12 signs, and 2) the daily cycle, with its four phases and 12 houses. These cycles mirror each other: Spring and morning, Summer and afternoon, Autumn and evening, Winter and sleep.

The Sun and planets travel through the four cardinal points of the zodiac just as they travel through the four axis points of our sky:

The Spring Equinox corresponds with the Eastern horizon (sunrise).

The Summer Solstice corresponds with the Midheaven (high noon).

The Autumn Equinox corresponds with the Western horizon (sunset).

The Winter Solstice corresponds with the Imum Coeli (midnight).

The houses are ordered in the same direction as the ecliptic, but in the opposite order from which the planets move through the sky. If the daily and annual cycles are mirror images of each other, why don't the houses follow the same path as the Sun?

The Sun travels from the Ascendant to the Midheaven to the Descendant to the Imum Coeli each day. Should not the houses be numbered in the order of this path? How is it that the 12th house, which represents all things hidden, is where planets rise and display themselves at the beginning of each day? Should this space not be the first house? Also, why doesn't the Midheaven start the 4th house if the Summer Solstice is the start of the 4th sign, Cancer? Are they not both the pinnacle of the Sun's daily and annual cycles?

The answer to this question lies in the fact that astrology is person-centered and Earth-based, not heliocentric and Sun-based. Just as the direction of the zodiac signs is based on the annual movement of the Earth through the solar system, the direction of the houses is based upon the daily rotation of the Earth. The Eastern horizon spins through the signs in the same direction as the ecliptic, not backwards.

I studied many house systems in depth: Whole signs, Equal houses, Placidus, Bhava (Hindu) houses, Porphyry houses, and Gauquelin's Diurnal Arc Sectors. I analyzed them ordered backwards and forwards and came to the conclusion that Diurnal Arcs in traditional zodiacal order gave, by far, the most accurate results.

This system takes the actual arc of each planet and divides it into 12 sections. It divides each semi-arc, above and below the horizon, into 6 houses by dividing the time each planet spends in each hemisphere by six. The location of a planet 1/6 of the time through the lower semi-arc is the 6th house cusp, 2/6 is the 5th house cusp, 3/6 is the 4th house cusp (IC), 4/6 is the 3rd house cusp, and 5/6 is the 2nd house cusp. The same is done with the upper semi-arc for each planet.

The Placidus house system uses this exact method, but only for the Sun's diurnal arc - the ecliptic. It then places every planet into the Sun's arc houses. However, since planets are usually not on the ecliptic, this method often incorrectly places planets that are above the horizon into the 1st & 6th houses and planets below the horizon into the 7th & 12th houses. Each planet has its own path and its own houses, DIURNAL ARC HOUSES.

GAUQUELIN SECTORS

The French statistician, Michel Gauquelin, published a large statistical research project in the 1970s. He found that planets have the greatest effect in the sectors just after the axis points, which are considered by house systems to be the weakest sectors. According to his understanding of astrological theory, the houses 1, 4, 7, and 10 are the strongest. But, his study found that the sectors largely occupying the spaces known as houses 3, 6, 9, and 12 are actually the strongest.

To investigate his work, I obtained Gauquelin's database of 15 study groups and replicated his study. I compared his groups with my control group, using the 1% end of the normal curve as statistical strength (1 in 100). What I found was that of the 15 groups, 7 were statistically strongest in the Mutable houses - taken as whole, 5 were strongest in Fixed houses, and none were strongest in the Angular houses. It appeared that he was right.

When studying the individual findings in the specific houses, a different story unfolded: 14 in Mutable houses, 11 in Fixed houses, and 8 in Angular houses - still weighted towards Mutable houses.

However, 7 of the 14 findings in Mutable houses were in the 9th house! The 9th house is well known to be a house of great strength and benevolence! Gauquelin's assumption that the 9th house is a space of weakness was incorrect and distorted his conclusions.

The Fire houses (1, 5, & 9) were actually the most prominent. Of 33 findings, 15 were in Fire houses, 8 in Earth houses, 3 in Air Houses, and 7 in Water houses.

Michel Gauquelin staked his conclusions on the "Mars effect", being strong for Sports figures in the 9th and 12th houses. My studies have also shown planets to be beneficial in the 12th house. Considering that planets first rise and become visible in this house, we should redefine it as a house of creative expression, just like Pisces, not a house of hidden activities - which is better suited to the 4th house. The 4th house starts at the Imum Coeli - the lowest, most invisible point in the daily cycle.

In the 93 fact-based Rodden study groups, the main distribution of strong findings was in the Angular houses: 52 in Angular houses, 37 in Fixed houses, and 27 in Mutable houses. Nearly twice as many findings were in Angular houses than Mutable houses. The distribution by element was spread evenly: 32 in Fire houses, 25 in Earth houses, 25 in Air houses, and 35 in Water houses.

There are four quadrants of houses in an astrological chart, beginning with an Angular (Cardinal) house, followed by a Succedent (Fixed) house, and ending with a Cadent (Mutable) house.

The Angular houses begin at one of the 4 Axis points (Ascendant, Midheaven, Imum Coeli and Descendant) and are considered to have the greatest impact in the birth chart. Angular houses rule those critical things in our life, such as our appearance and how we behave (1st), our family life (4th), our married life or partnerships (7th), and career (10th).

Succedent (Fixed) houses follow (succeed) the Angular houses. These are productive houses in which matters take root and flourish, such as possessions (2nd) or children (5th). They have a stable, fixed, unchanging quality, deriving from their central position in each quadrant. The Succedent houses appertain to the Angular houses. In this way, the second house, which succeeds the first house of the self, signifies things that belong to the person. Similarly, the eighth house, which follows the seventh house of the partner, represents the belongings of the partner.

Cadent (Mutable) houses are the last houses of each quadrant. The Greeks called the Cadent houses apoklima, which literally means "falling" or "decline," because these houses were seen to be falling away from the strength of the Angular houses. Cadent houses are places of reflection, therefore, usually considered by astrologers as less fertile and productive places than either Angular or Succedent houses, with the notable exception of the ninth house.

The Fire Houses (1, 5, 9) are called the Dharma houses, which means "action" because dharma relates to our right actions done in the pursuit of our passions. They represent where we can best express ourselves and follow our true purpose.

The Earth Houses (2, 6, 10) are called the Artha houses, meaning "wealth". They describe what we value, work for, as well as our resources.

The Air Houses (3, 7, 11) are called the Kama houses, meaning "desire". They show what we desire to learn, and how we interact and communicate with others.

The Water Houses (4, 8, 12) are called the Moksha houses, meaning "liberation." They represent the areas in life where we liberate ourselves from the bonds of the material world, and delve deeper into the inner dimensions of our psyche and soul.

1ST HOUSE

MODE: ANGULAR (CARDINAL)

HORIZON: BELOW

The first house begins on the Ascendant with the Rising sign. It signifies a person's outward appearance, behavior, health, and vitality. The zodiac sign on the cusp of the 1st house helps to show how you present yourself to the world and how others see you.

The first house is associated with the sign Aries, thus describing the way you start something new, your physical energy, self-confidence, assertiveness, and aspirations. It can also show your overall outlook on life and ability to enjoy living.

Sex Workers and Sports Coaches are strong in this house, showing its connection with the Arian energy of aggression and sexuality.

Being that the first house is just below the horizon, representing the early morning hours, it is also a time of reflection and preparation. This is seen through the strength of Mystics, Psychiatrists, and Spiritual Teachers in this house. The Sun is especially strong in the first house for these types of people.

2ND HOUSE

MODE: SUCCEDENT (FIXED)

HORIZON: BELOW

The 2nd house relates to your sense of stability, how you make money, and also your immediate environment. This is the house of money and material possessions. This includes your finances, personal belongings, and your relationship to the gifts you possess, both physically and spiritually.

Being associated with Taurus, it's a very physical and material realm that governs the five senses. The 2nd house is also associated with values, self-esteem, self-worth, income, and how at home we feel in our bodies and environments.

The groups of people showing longevity are strong in this house, especially for the Moon: Same Job (10+ yrs), Life Long (80+ yrs). The Moon is also strong in this house for creative, intelligent people such as Artists and Nobel Prize winners.

ELEMENT: AIR

HORIZON: BELOW

Associated with Gemini, the third house governs your thinking process, style of communicating, and cognitive functioning. It signifies all aspects of communication: thinking, talking, your on-line persona, media, electronic devices, and the ways we give and receive messages.

It also determines the energy of your general exchanges, along with your immediate environment. This includes your siblings, cousins, neighbors and neighborhood, early education, and short trips.

The third house is strong for Salespeople, Scientists, and Writers, especially with the planets Mercury and Venus.

4TH HOUSE

MODE: ANGULAR (CARDINAL)

HORIZON: BELOW

The 4th house begins at the Imum Coeli, at the lowest point in the chart. It is known as the house of home and roots, and is the foundation of the whole birth chart. It concerns the home, security, mothers and lineage, children, and things in early life that served as a foundation for you. It also shows the way you nurture others and your approach to self-care.

The fourth house rules the home within you and the one you grew up in. Associated with Cancer, this house can show your roots, sense of security, and emotional foundation. This house also revolves around your connection to the past along with your ancestry line, as well as endings, such as a person's end of life.

The fourth house is strong for Composers and Literature writers, who spend much time working in private. The Sun is especially strong for these people. Jupiter is especially strong for Musicians.

However, the fourth house is the most difficult position of all the houses, being at the bottom of the chart. The Sun and Mars are particularly common positions for Child and Sex Abuse victims, Sex Offenders, and Murderers.

5TH HOUSE

MODE: SUCCEDENT (FIXED)

HORIZON: BELOW

Associated with Leo, the 5th house is all about self-expression, creativity, and celebration. This is a very fertile house in the sense that it rules the creation of all things. It shows how we express ourselves in artistic and dramatic ways, as well as the creation of children. This house governs fun and play, the joys of romance and love, and arts such as theater and music.

Ancient astrologers thought this was the house of good fortune and quite a positive and beneficial one. For this reason, they believed that Venus is strong here, which is seen with people who have 4 or more Children. But it is also a common position for unmarried people. The Moon is the strongest planet in this house, being common for intellectual thinkers and musical composers.

The outward planets Sun, Mars, and Jupiter are less successful in the fifth house, being common for many people with great interpersonal difficulties such as AIDS patients, Prisoners, and Widowers.

6TH HOUSE

MODE: CADENT (MUTABLE)

HORIZON: BELOW

Associated with Virgo, the 6th house is all about service and health. It shows our day-to-day life, as well as our level of mindfulness and problem-solving skills. This includes daily responsibilities, health habits, organization, daily routines and upkeep, fitness, self-care, diet, exercise, natural living, and being of service to people.

Ancient astrologers called the sixth house the house of bad fortune since it refers to sickness and servitude. The sixth is the house of servants, and so may also refer to our service to others, or that which we are obliged to do but do not necessarily want to do. It also reveals our duties and responsibilities, and the most routine aspects of work. Pets are also connected to this house since they are considered to be servants of people.

The sixth house is a position of difficulty for many groups, especially for people born with Birth Defects. However, there is no particular planetary position that is especially difficult. Mercury and Saturn are actually very productive in this house, being strong for Writers.

7TH HOUSE

MODE: ANGULAR (CARDINAL)

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 7th house begins at the Descendant, situated directly across from the first house of identity. Associated with Libra, It is all about relationships and other people that we come in contact with: marriages, business and domestic partnerships. It's where we join with others and get to know ourselves through our interactions and shows the type of mate the native is likely to be attracted to and all partnerships in general.

Creating a union and balance of two forces is the goal of this house and, therefore, symbolizes mediators and lawyers, as well as our open enemies.

For ancient astrologers, the seventh house was considered a fortunate one, which is seen for many groups of socially successful people such as Child Performers and Lawyers. The Moon and Mars are the most beneficial planets in the seventh house, while Saturn is the worst, being common for Murder Victims and Sex Abuse Victims.

8TH HOUSE

MODE: SUCCEDENT (FIXED)

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 8th house, being associated with Scorpio, is one of the most psychological houses. It has to do with transformation through the birth-death-rebirth cycle, sex, and deep bonding. The 8th house is all about looking into the depths and getting to know ourselves and others intimately. It's the place of merging, where two become one, and is associated with reproduction and regeneration.

The 8th house is commonly referred to as the house of death. This house governs sexuality, an orgasm being a kind of miniature death. It also shows our relationship to other people's money: inheritances, a partner's money, debt, and taxes.

Ancient astrologers considered the eighth to be an unfortunate house. However, modern astrologers see elements of spirituality here, since the transformation of the soul is caused by psychological insight and healing. Psychiatrists and Philosophers commonly have planetary placements here.

Mercury is an exceptionally good placement here for analytical thinkers. Venus is common for people with complicated relationships such as Transvestites and Widowers. The Moon and Mars are the most difficult planets in this house for people prone to conflict.

9TH HOUSE

MODE: CADENT (MUTABLE)

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 9th house, associated with Sagittarius, represents expansive thinking and growth. This includes global travel, higher-level learning, publishing, and university teaching. It shows how we take risks and venture into areas of the world. While the opposite 3rd house is all about knowledge and information, the ninth house is about wisdom, philosophy, and religion.

The ninth house portrays our higher learning, including our spiritual understanding, belief systems, and personal philosophies. It also governs our higher cognition, dreams, and level of awareness. Ancient astrologers called this the house of the Sun God since the Sun was considered powerful in this position. Prominent Sports figures and Singers commonly have the Sun in the ninth house. The ninth house, as a whole, is the most beneficial. Child Prodigies, Children (4+), Marriage (15+), Politicians, Sports, and the Wealthy are all strong on this position.

Saturn is the one planet that does not fare well here, with many groups of problematic people strong in this position, such as Murderers, Criminals, and Drug Abusers.

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 10th house begins at the Midheaven, located at the very top of the birth chart. It represents the most visible and public areas of our life. This is the world's stage and how we're seen, our status and leadership. It's also about honors, achievements, fame, and public reputation.

Associated with Capricorn, the 10th house governs our career and shows our relationship to authority figures, including our father figures and the government. Traditions and institutional structures are represented by the 10th house, as well as traditions and legacies we leave in the world.

The Moon is strong in the tenth house with Nobel Prize winners and Professors. However, Mercury is common here for Murder victims and people who died young. Overall, the tenth house is a significantly worse position than the ninth house, being common for people struggling with Mental Health issues, Alcoholics, and Drug Abusers.

MODE: SUCCEDENT (FIXED)

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 11th house represents all that we associate with as Aquarian such as originality, inventions, astrology, sci-fi, and things unexpected or future-oriented. The 11th house is all about envisioning future possibilities, often with a group of like-minded people. It also shows our interactions with associations, groups of people working together, and friendships.

Ancient astrologers called the eleventh house the house of Good Spirit or Good Divinity and was considered a very beneficial place in the chart. It is a house of hopes, aspirations and expectations, a place for the fulfilling of desires. Worldly eminence and material abundance are denoted by this house.

The most common house for Astrologers is here, in the 11th house, since astrology is still an uncharted territory. Twins have many planets frequently in this house, showing that this house also represents comradery.

12TH HOUSE

MODE: CADENT (MUTABLE)

HORIZON: ABOVE

The 12th house, associated with Pisces, is linked to dreams, spirituality, imagination, and creative arts such as film, dance, and poetry. It shows the parts of you that are hidden, - such as secrets, the subconscious mind, and past-life karma, as well as hidden places, such as jails and institutions.

Being the last house, it is associated with endings, the last stages of projects, old age, and surrender. Western astrologers have always regarded the twelfth house as a very unfortunate place and ancient astrologers called it the house of Evil Spirit, representing troubles, self-undoing, secret enemies, and imprisonment.

Many creative and mystical groups of people are common in the twelfth house. Artists and Astrologers have many planets frequent in this space. Contrary to tradition, there are no negative planetary positions in this house and many positive positions. The Moon, Mercury, Venus, and Jupiter all show very beneficial results here.

THE RISING SIGN

The Rising sign is the zodiac sign on the Eastern horizon, where the Ascendant is located. It is thought to show how a person expresses themselves outwardly, as their persona. The Rising sign displays an increasingly uneven distribution the farther North or South of the Equator people are born. This is because, in locations other than the Equator, the signs on the ecliptic cross the Eastern horizon at differing angles. The signs that take the longest to cross the horizon are Virgo-Libra, when Gemini-Cancer are at the Midheaven.

Below is a graph of the Rising signs of 10,000 random charts at 60°N, in places such as Alaska, Scandinavia, and Moscow. Eighty percent of the charts have their Ascendant in half of the signs, the signs where the declination of the Sun is decreasing (Cancer through Sagittarius). This is the time when the signs of Northern declination (Aries-Virgo) are on the Midheaven and the ecliptic is highest in the sky.

It is unlikely that human beings would have such a skewed distribution of personas. The findings amongst the study groups also do not show a very accurate portrayal of the zodiac signs and appear somewhat random.

PLANETARY ASPECTS

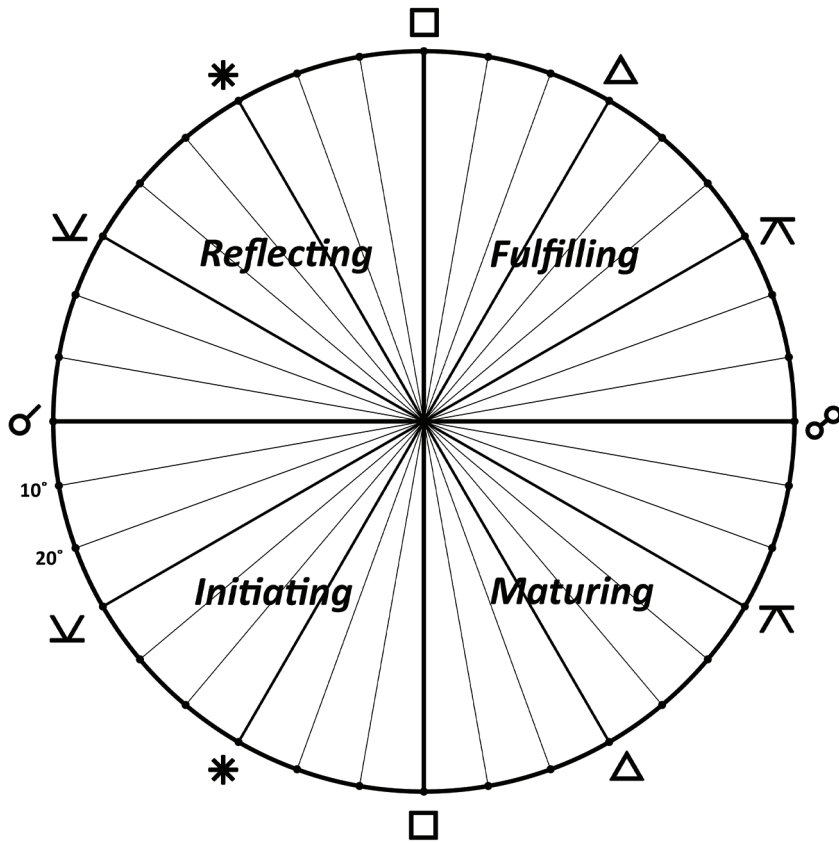

The original or archaic meaning of the word 'aspect' is to observe or to look at (from a specific perspective). In astrology, planets are judged to be in aspect when they are looking at each other from particular spatial angles and, thus, bring out specific characteristics of each planet. The new and full moons are the most observable form of aspects. These are the cyclical conjunctions and oppositions of the Sun and Moon. As viewed from the Earth, their positions in the zodiac, or ecliptic, are measured in longitude, with 0 degrees longitude being the vernal equinox, the first degree of Aries. Therefore, the positions of the Sun, Moon, and planets can be regarded as being in aspect with each other based on their positions in the zodiac.

The most powerful form of aspect that two planets can have is when they are visibly conjunct. This happens when any two of the Sun, Moon, or planets are at the same longitude (in the same zodiacal position) and the same latitude (number of degrees above or below the ecliptic). They show a profound expression in the person's character. The next most powerful aspect is when two planetary bodies are visibly opposite. This happens when they are at opposite longitudes and at opposite latitudes. They are largely experienced through inter-personal relations and objective conditions of the person. These visible and exact aspects produce eclipses when the Sun and Moon are together or apart, the visible conjunction being a solar eclipse and the visible opposition being the lunar eclipse.

Astrologers have also determined that there are many other meaningful aspects that planetary bodies can have, as measured by their longitude in the zodiac. These aspects are calculated by dividing the zodiac by a number, mainly 1, 2, 3, and 4. Since the zodiac takes a circular shape around us, we divide 360 degrees by this number. For instance, planetary bodies in opposition are 180 degrees apart, since it is calculated by dividing the circle in half. The trine is 120 degrees apart, since it is calculated by dividing the zodiac into thirds. Squares are 90 degrees apart, since they are calculated by dividing the zodiac into quarters. Each type of aspect is thought to add its own coloring to the two planets involved. For instance, a square between the Moon and Venus would cause conflict in intimacy, while a trine would cause intimacy to be more pleasant.

Many others aspects are also thought to have importance. The sextile divides the zodiac into sixths and occurs when planets are 60 degrees apart. The semi-sextile and inconjunct divide the zodiac into twelfths and occurs when planets are 30 degrees and 150 degrees apart, respectively.

Every planetary pair has a waxing and waning cycle. Waxing aspects are where the faster planet is less than 180 degrees past conjunction with the slower planet and are about initiating and growth. Waning aspects are where the faster planet is past opposition with the slower planet and are about fulfillment and resolution. As a result, the waxing square has a different effect than the waning square.

In this project, I studied the effects that these aspects show within the study groups in many different ways. I studied conjunctions alone as well as conjunctions combined with many other aspects. I also looked for the effect when two planetary bodies are parallel, that is, having the same declination (Appendix 3). The conjunction and declination studies showed good results. But the study showing the combined effects of conjunctions, oppositions, trines, squares and other minor aspects showed the best results.

The significance of the 9th harmonic, by sign, gave me a clue to finding the most significant aspect pattern for the planetary bodies of our solar system. Studying 9th harmonic charts revealed that planets were in a strong relationship with each other if they were together in the same sign and, therefore, a multiple of 40 degrees apart in the 1st harmonic. Planets that are in opposition and square in the 9th harmonic chart (10 degrees and 20 degrees apart in 1H chart) also show meaningful information. So, I did a study on the 1/36th division of the zodiac, which is every 10 degrees, by totaling the sum of all aspects for each planet combination. This is the first division that includes all of the major aspects as well as the nonile.

The following table shows the aspects included in the study as well the orbs used for each aspect. Larger aspect orbs were used for the more significant aspects.

Aspect	Symbol	Harmonic	Distance	Frequency	Orb
Conjunction	♌	1	0°	1	4°
Opposition	♍	2	180°	1	2°
Trine	♎	3	120°	2	1.5°
Square	♏	4	90°	2	1.5°
Sextile	♐	6	60°	2	1°
Semi-sextile	♑	12	30°	2	1°
Inconjunct	♒	12	150°	2	1°
Nonile	N	9	40°	6	1°
Semi-nonile	N ₂	18	20°	6	2/3°
Quadri-nonile	N ₄	36	10°	12	2/3°

The results largely showed what astrological theory would have expected.

The Sun was found to have a stronger influence when unaspected by other planets. The groups with an unaspected Sun are strong in leadership qualities: Directors, Politicians, Salespeople., Sports Coaches, and the Wealthy.

The Moon aspects showed mostly difficult results, being strong with groups having Alzheimer's, Mental Illnesses, and Obesity. Mercury aspects were frequent with many highly intelligent groups of people. Venus aspects were frequent for groups related to childhood. Mars aspects were frequent for Murderers and short-lived people, while infrequent for long-lived people.

Jupiter aspects were beneficent with the Sun and Mars, but difficult with the Moon and Venus. Saturn aspects were strong for Professors, but also for people with relationship difficulties like those who were Adopted, Unmarried and Childless.

The major exception to astrological theory were the results found for Neptune. The groups Business Owners, Corporate Tycoons, Lawyers, and the Military were all strong in Neptune. Neptune represents idealism, dreams, and spirituality, but it also expresses as materialism, deception, and a lack of respect for personal boundaries.

It is also interesting to note that prominent astrologers studying Neptune in the early 1900's such as Alan Leo and Sepharial observed that people with a strong influence of Neptune in their birth charts showed a strong likelihood to be involved in scandals.

SUN ☉ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: FIRE (YANG)

PERSPECTIVE: PERSONAL

COGNITION: WILL (EGO)

The Sun is the masculine ego. It represents your identity and shows how you view yourself. Your outer life goals are linked to the Sun and it indicates how you can shine in your life. You will feel truly alive when living the traits indicated by your Sun. Therefore, it's likely that you will spend much of your life aiming to incorporate these traits into yourself. The older we get, the more we strive to express ourselves through our Sun's qualities.

The Sun appears to express itself more powerfully when unaspected since it naturally gives out its light when in contact with other planets. When unaspected, it retains its light and shines the brightest and gives people confidence in their talents and leadership ability. This is seen with Directors, Politicians, Salespeople, Sports Coaches, and the Wealthy. (This is the reverse of the traditional idea of planetary combustion, which states that the planets in conjunction with the Sun will be weakened - not the Sun.)

Songwriters are strongest with Sun aspects showing the creative influence the Sun has when influencing other planets. This is especially seen with Sun-Mercury and Sun-Jupiter aspects.

MOON ☾ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: WATER (YIN)

PERSPECTIVE: PERSONAL

COGNITION: EMOTION

The Moon is the feminine ego. It represents your inner self and reveals your interior experience of being. It shows your habitual nature or subconscious patterns of thought and behavior. As such, it represents feelings and reflective thinking. While the Moon can show your natural strengths, it can also depict your weaknesses, which need to be overcome in order to be successful in life. The Moon depicts your personal roots, your home and family. It tells about your emotional nature, basic needs for comfort and is the key to how we experience intimacy in relationships.

The Moon's nurturing nature is seen with Culinary people. Its reputation for lunacy is justified by its frequency for people with Mental Illnesses. A surprising finding was that so many groups with Moon-Venus and Moon-Jupiter aspects have personal difficulties.

MERCURY ♿ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: AIR

PERSPECTIVE: PERSONAL

COGNITION: LOGIC

Mercury is a neutral planet. It represents the observer, awareness itself, that which perceives. Its symbol even looks like you! It is a circle (spirit) with a moon on its head (soul) on top of a cross (body).

Mercury tells us about your method of thinking, your learning habits and style of communication. It stands for the intellect, common sense, cold reasoning, commerce and business. Mercury's aspects also tell us about your academic schooling and learning experiences through life.

Engineers are highly influenced by Mercury, being strong with multiple aspects. Mercury-Mars aspects, which represents the union of thought, sexuality and aggression, are frequent for Murderers and Sex Offenders. Mercury-Uranus aspects are strong for Technical groups. Mercury-Chiron aspects are frequent for many types of analytical thinkers.

VENUS ♀ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: EARTH (YIN)

PERSPECTIVE: PERSONAL

COGNITION: SENSUALITY

Venus, the feminine persona, represents pleasure of the senses and the harmonious co-operation of beings. It tells us about love and relationships and reveals the type of relationships you value, what you are seeking from your most intimate relationship, as well as how you like to show your love. Venus also depicts art and beauty, which is created by joining of senses into patterns. It indicates what you enjoy and value as well as your ability to attain them and, therefore, is linked with money and resources.

Venus aspects are strong with people who have both positive experiences as children and having children. Venus-Saturn aspects have the most influence on childhood experiences. Venus-Mars aspects incline people to be attractive. Venus-Neptune aspects are frequent for both Musicians and powerful groups of people. Venus-Chiron aspects are frequent for people with relationship wounds.

MARS ♂ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: FIRE (YANG)

PERSPECTIVE: PERSONAL

COGNITION: DESIRE (ID)

Mars, the masculine persona, represents the urge towards fulfilling individual desires. It is the planet that tells us about your assertion and drive to dare to do something and grow as an individual. It tells how you function in a competitive, pressurized situation, your stamina, determination, and how you experience conflict and risk. It also shows how you behave sexually.

Mars aspects are frequent with people who have lived less than 29 years and infrequent with people who have lived more than 80 years. This is due to Martian attraction to competition and conflict. This is most noticeable with Moon-Mars and Mars-Uranus aspects. Also, noticeable is that people with positive, enduring relationships have little influence from Mars.

There is a technical side to Mars that is revealed with its aspects to Saturn and Pluto, which itself has an investigative and probing nature.

JUPITER ♃ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: AIR (YANG)

PERSPECTIVE: COLLECTIVE

COGNITION: INTELLECT

Jupiter represents one's philosophy and pursuit of goals. It is the planet of growth, abundance, and wisdom and, therefore, can also be linked to excess. It highlights the areas in which we experience enthusiasm and confidence. Its position indicates where we are trusting in life, our ideals and values, and our search for and discovery of personal meaning.

Jupiter's effect of expanding our minds and success in life is seen with Sun-Jupiter aspects. Surprisingly, Jupiter in aspect with the feminine planets, Moon and Venus, are frequent for people who have childhood and relationship difficulties. It also has the effect of increasing our capacity for risk and danger, which is most frequently seen with Pluto aspects.

SATURN ♄ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: EARTH (YIN)

PERSPECTIVE: COLLECTIVE

COGNITION: SUPREGO

Saturn represents the control of behavior and thought. It tells us about authorities in our lives, such as parental figures, governmental laws, and cultural morals. It shows how we accept responsibilities and boundaries as well as the limitations imposed upon us. Therefore, Saturn can have a serious, depressing effect. This planet is also linked with our ambitions, and how we approach the practical and professional side of our lives.

Saturn as a symbol of authority is seen with Professors, and its relation to longevity is evident with the Long Life group. With Venus, Saturn is an indication of lasting relations and wealth. With Chiron, it has the effect of limiting our joy and vitality. People with Saturn-Mars and Saturn-Pluto aspects are often especially profound thinkers.

URANUS ☿ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: AIR (YANG)

PERSPECTIVE: IMPERSONAL

COGNITION: INTUITION

Uranus represents the process of awakening to truth. It shows us where we are original and unconventional, since it brings us a connection to our inner self. It can manifest as unusual and brilliant genius, willful rebelliousness, or shocking impulsiveness. It tells us the areas in which you break with convention, become innovative and experiment in new and exciting ways. Unlike any other planet, Uranus spins sideways on its axis.

Uranus manifests its enlightening influence differently based on the planet it aspects. With the Moon, it reveals creative intelligence. With Mercury and Chiron, it shows technical ability. With Venus, it manifests as talent during childhood.

Uranus is also famous for delivering sudden shocks and disruptions into our lives (rude awakenings). This most clearly manifests with Mars and Jupiter aspects.

NEPTUNE ♆ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: WATER (YIN)

COGNITION: IMAGINATION

Neptune represents the dream and illusion of being an individual in an objective universe. It, therefore, blurs reality and fantasy and shows your tendency for imagination and escapism. Neptune often shows where we feel lost and without foundation, since it represents the forgetfulness of our true self. It also reveals how you seek personal glamour and glory. This can manifest as deliberate deceptiveness and insincerity.

Neptune is commonly thought of as a planet representing spirituality. But, these findings completely contradict that notion. Instead, Neptune reveals itself to be strong with groups which have great personal ambition, aggression, and selfish motives. These groups reveal Neptune's willingness to attain goals through deception.

Neptune's dual nature of being imaginative yet deceptive is seen most when in aspect with the Sun and Venus, with Corporate Tycoons and Business Owners. With the Moon, Neptune is a strong indication of mental problems. Neptune-Pluto aspects appear to be an indication of violence.

PLUTO ♃ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: FIRE/WATER

COGNITION: SHADOW

Pluto represents the shadow aspect of our subconscious mind. Under its influence, powerful transformations can occur through uncovering hidden knowledge. It also indicates what we seek to influence and control. Pluto shows us in what areas of life you need to let go, and whether you're likely to find the process painful or joyful.

When Pluto is in aspect to planets, it often manifests deep thinking qualities. This is most apparent with Mercury, Mars, and Saturn. However, Pluto aspects can also be a strong indication of unhealthy relationships and life shortening circumstances. This is seen most frequently with Pluto aspects to the Sun, Venus, Jupiter, and Neptune.

CHIRON ☿ ASPECTS

ELEMENT: EARTH/AIR

PERSPECTIVE: COLLECTIVE

COGNITION: TRAUMA

Chiron, the Wounded Healer, represents our emotional and physical wounds. It reveals a part of us that is hurt, vulnerable, and insecure. Chiron helps us to heal our wounds, and then look beyond personal realms, to see the suffering of others, and to become teachers and healers.

Chiron's association with wounds is most apparent through its Saturn aspects. Venus aspects indicate difficulties in relationships as seen with AIDS patients and Priests. Chiron's healing qualities are expressed through its analytical nature, seen when in aspect to Mercury and Uranus.

CASE STUDIES

Here are a number of case studies that demonstrate the use of the 1st and 9th harmonics, as well as a few predictive techniques implementing the 9th harmonic.

BILL GATES AND STEVE JOBS

These are the 1st harmonic natal birth charts of Bill Gates and Steve Jobs, two of the most important figures in the computer technology revolution. They both have the Moon in the Aries-Gemini navamsha (which is strong in the Brilliant Minds group), the Sun in Water signs, and Mercury in Air signs. This tells us that they are intuitive leaders with good thinking and communication skills. The charts show some similarity but nothing remarkable.

In their 9th harmonic charts, an amazing correspondence reveals itself. They both have the Sun in Leo, and Moon in Gemini conjunct Neptune. They both have Mercury in Aquarius and Saturn in Capricorn involved in a conjunction with inner planets. They have Venus in opposite signs, Jupiter and Mars are transposed and they both have Chiron in Libra.

These charts represent the inner workings of Bill Gates and Steve Jobs and an argument could be made that they are twins on a spiritual level. Both men have tremendous confidence in their intelligence and a great work ethic demonstrated by the planets in Capricorn. The Moon-Neptune conjunction in Gemini indicates their great need to achieve their ideals through intelligence.

MARS AND ATHLETES

It is commonly thought that Mars represents aggression and is therefore the critical element for a successful athlete. While this did not show up as an overall trend for the 1,214 person Sports study group (though Aries was strong), the charts of the three most prominent athletes of our time, Pele, Michael Jordan, and Wayne Gretzky show clear signs of Mars. All three of them have Mars in the 1st degree of Cancer or Capricorn in the 1st or 9th harmonic charts, indicating that these parts of the zodiac have great importance. This is not surprising since they are the points at which the Sun changes direction by declination and signal the beginning of Summer and Winter.

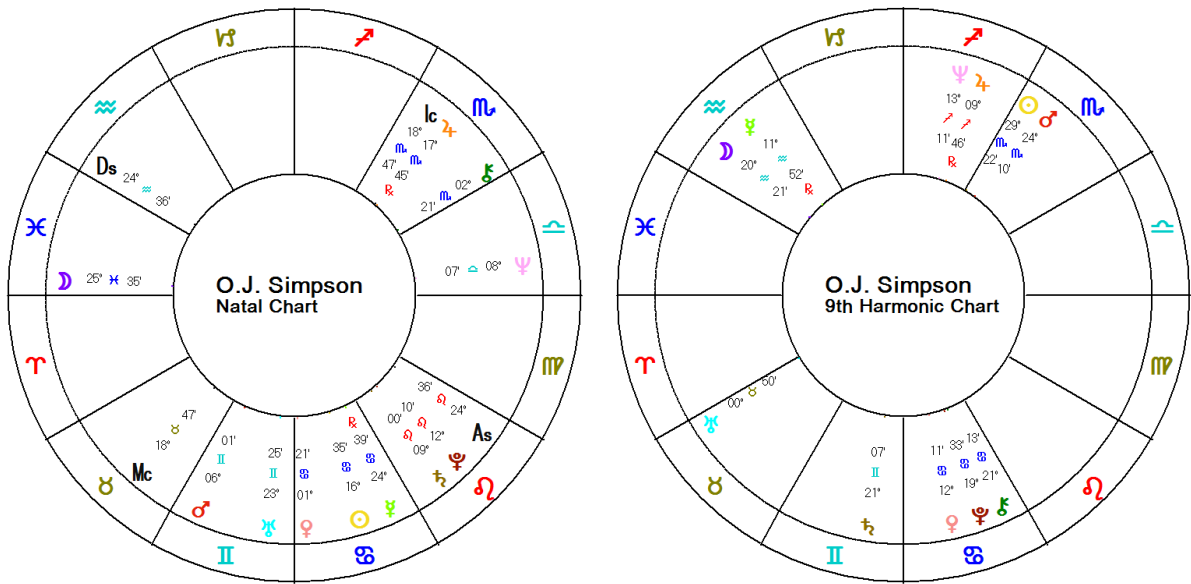

Michael Jordan has Mars in the 1st degree of Cancer in his 9th harmonic chart. In this chart, he also has an extremely tight Sun-Moon conjunction in Gemini (Air Jordan). Wayne Gretzky has Mars in the 1st degree of Cancer in the 1st harmonic. Pele has Mars in the 1st degree of Capricorn in the 9th harmonic chart. (This also indicates that the degree positions in the 9th harmonic chart are significant.)

It is interesting, that Pele is the only one of them with Mars in Capricorn, the low point of the solar cycle. It is likely that Mars is behaving as though it is in Cancer since he was born in the Southern hemisphere, where the seasons are reversed.

OJ SIMPSON

Looking at OJ Simpson's 1st harmonic chart, there is very little evidence of an athlete or of someone with violent tendencies. The Sun, Mercury, Venus stellium in Cancer and his Pisces Moon would lead most astrologers to interpret him as a sensitive, caring introverted type.

However, a quick glance at his 9th harmonic chart reveals an entirely different picture. He has the Sun and Mars together in Scorpio, revealing an intense, aggressive nature. Mercury and the Moon are together in Aquarius showing his charisma and facility at communicating with the public. He also has Venus, Pluto and Chiron together in Cancer, which is highly symbolic of co-dependent, hurtful relationships.

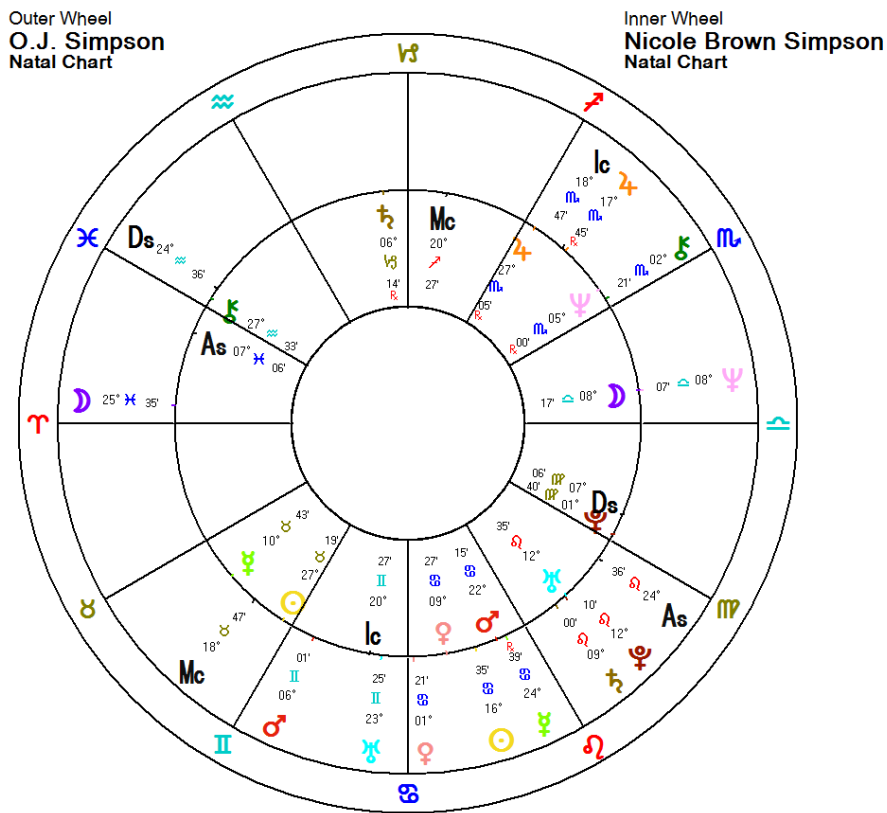

Using the 9th harmonic chart also enables us to see events in a person's life that would have gone unnoticed using the 1st harmonic alone. On June 12, 1994, Nicole Brown Simpson was murdered and OJ Simpson was found fleeing in a car. This was highly suspicious behavior for a man found innocent by our courts. When we look at transits to his 1st harmonic chart, Chiron and Saturn were square by transit to his natal Mars. These are small indications of violence but hardly life-altering indicators.

However, looking at transits to his 9th harmonic chart reveals a whole different story. Pluto was conjunct with his 9th harmonic Sun (and Mars). There is no bigger transit than this in astrological symbolism. It speaks of having one's life significantly transformed in turbulent circumstances. The Pluto on Mars transit indicates that he was feeling very energized and aggressive at the time as well.

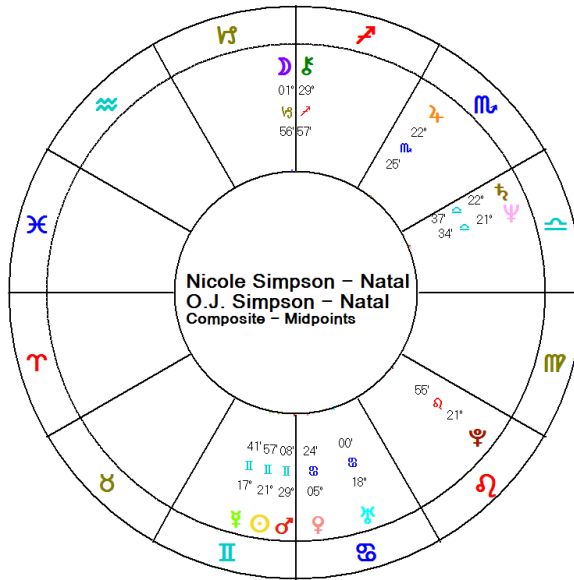

RELATIONSHIP COMPATIBILITY

When looking at the compatibility of two persons' charts, we can directly compare the charts by viewing the interrelations of the planets (synastry) or we can create a new chart using the midpoints of the planets in both charts (composite chart).

When comparing OJ's chart with Nicole's chart, the most obvious indication of violence is that they both have Mars within 10 degrees of each other's Sun. In addition, Nicole's Chiron is on OJ's Descendant indicating that Nicole is a relationship partner who can be woundful or be wounded by OJ. She also has Pluto on her own Descendant, showing a tendency to attract powerful, controlling people into her life.

When looking at the composite chart, we see that the Sun and Mars are conjunct. The Sun is also trine Saturn and sextile Pluto - all significant indicators of tension. The Moon is in the powerful Capricorn-Capricorn navamsha indicating deep emotional repression and the inability to give and receive nurturing. The Moon is also conjunct Chiron, and opposite Mars indicating the possibility of hurtful experiences within the relationship.

There are two major techniques for observing the transitions that a relationship may undergo through time. The first is to view the transits to the composite chart and the second technique is to calculate a secondary progressed composite chart for the time in question.

In the case of OJ and Nicole Simpson, there were no major transits at the time of the murder, but the secondary progressed composite chart contains some very interesting findings. Venus has moved into an exact conjunction with Pluto indicating a likelihood for intense passion, transformation and danger in love. The other major finding is that the composite Moon has returned to its natal position in Capricorn with Chiron (in the powerful Capricorn-Capricorn navamsha) showing deeply hurt feelings.

ADOLF HITLER

For Adolf Hitler, I will apply all of the techniques studied in order to show how to fully analyze a birth chart. The outer chart is the 1st harmonic, the inner chart is the 9th harmonic. The declination chart is on the left and fixed stars conjunctions are on the lower right.

Outer Wheel

Inner Wheel

9th Harmonic Chart

Fixed Stars (2)	Orb
♃ FACIES ---	1°29'
♌ FACIES ---	1°48'
♍ SPICAAA	3°53'
♎ ALHENA	0°46'

The first thing to do is look for sign, element, mode, and quadrant strength in the 1st and 9th harmonic charts. Hitler has many planets in Taurus and Capricorn and has a heavy dominance in the 1st quadrant. Hitler's strength in the Earth element shows his practicality, toughness, and stubborn determination to make his goal become reality. The dominance of planets in the 1st quadrant shows his focus on personal goals as well as a lack of awareness of the needs of others. This quadrant is very strong amongst athletes.

The next step is to look for conjunctions between planets, especially amongst the Sun to Saturn in both the 1st and 9th harmonic charts. In the case of Hitler, he has the Moon conjunct Jupiter in Capricorn, showing his fantastic executive leadership ability, yet a deeply repressed capacity for nurturing or empathy. This conjunction is common for people who were abused or abandoned in childhood.

The Moon and Jupiter are also in conjunction with the fixed star Facies, the Archer God of War. People with these conjunctions often cause violence or turmoil or have themselves been harshly treated and can have abrasive religious or philosophical views.

His Moon was also in the Sagittarius Lunar phase (240-270 degrees from the Sun) showing his ambition to spread his Aryan philosophy.

He has Mars conjunct Venus in Taurus, revealing a strong magnetism, sensuality, and determination. Mars and Venus are also the focal points of his Sun-Neptune and Sun-Pluto midpoints. This reveals his use of personal magnetism for purposes of deception and power.

In the 9th harmonic chart, Mercury is conjunct Pluto in the Aries-Scorpio navamsha. This reveals the key to Hitler's aggressive and sinister inner thoughts and shows penetrating and suspicious thinking, especially towards others.

Chiron is also conjunct with the Moon's North Node, indicating that his life purpose revolved around wounds inflicted on people.

The next step is to look for planets conjunct with the 4 Axis points, especially the Ascendant or Midheaven (within 6-10 degrees). He has Uranus on the Ascendant indicating that he seeks opportunity to awaken others through sudden change. His Sun and Mercury were also conjunct on the Descendant, showing his profound effect on others.

Then look at the planetary placements in the houses. Since I use Diurnal Arc houses, each planet has its own house sectors - found in many programs as Gauquelin Sectors. Sectors 1-3 are the 12th house and the last three sectors, 34-36, are the 1st house since Gauquelin counted them backwards (clockwise). Hitler had most of his planets in the Air houses, 3rd and 7th, showing his ability to communicate with and relate to people.

Any planet in the same sign in both the 1st and 9th harmonic also has a strong influence with the individual. This is especially true for Cancer and Capricorn since they are at the apex and trough of the solar cycle. In the case of Hitler, he has Mars in Taurus-Taurus (physical aggression) and Saturn in Leo-Leo (confident authority). His Mars in double Taurus is in aspect to Chiron (50 degrees) and parallel by declination, showing his capacity for aggression and physical violence. Mars in double Taurus is strong in the study of Murderers.

For more specific information, look at each planet by sign position for both harmonics and look at all aspects. For example, Hitler has his Sun in Taurus-Capricorn in tight 30-degree aspect with Neptune. This describes a very practical, hard-working person who is willing to use deception to fulfill his dreams.

(Finally, I would like to mention the 27 lunar mansions, the nakshatras. The ancient sages of India wrote about them in the Vedic scriptures and are likely the oldest form of astrology, predating Babylonian and Egyptian astrology. Each nakshatra covers the distance traveled by the Moon in a day. This is the lunar zodiac, viewed at night in reference to the stars. Whereas, the 12 tropical signs are the solar zodiac, measured by daylight in reference to the seasons.

Due to the lack of precision or agreement using the stars as a reference, my research did not yield meaningful results. However, I do often find them to provide very accurate descriptions of the person. Using the most common calculation (Lahiri), Hitler was born with the Moon in Purva Ashada, which means "the undefeated" and is called "the invincible star." It is considered a "fierce" nakshatra and often shows powerful leaders.)

PART II

THE STUDY GROUPS

STUDY GROUPS

The following section contains an in-depth look at each of the 122 study groups. There are 93 Rodden groups that are based on factual biographical information, 14 Rodden groups based on subjective personality traits, and 15 Gauquelin groups.

For each group, I show the major themes as well as the most notable individual findings. The descriptions of the findings are short summaries of possible interpretations that are intended to instigate thought and let the reader come to their own conclusions.

Thereafter, I summarized all significant findings in a sign table that lists the strong 1st harmonic and 9th harmonic sign positions, houses, Rising sign, Moon's Node, and Lunar Phase - which is divided into 12 sections (Appendix 1). The number of people in each group study is listed in the upper left corner of this table.

A second planetary table lists the frequent 36th harmonic aspects, parallels of declination, the 4 Axis points, Sun/Moon midpoints, directional strength, and Moon's Node conjunctions.

Also shown are all the numerical findings (raw data) for each planet's sign positions in the 1st and 9th harmonic, houses, Rising sign, and Moon's Nodes. Findings in the upper 5% (95% or higher) of the normal curve, as compared with the control group, are highlighted in blue and those in the lower 5% are highlighted in red.

In each of the groups, there is a strong theme by sign and/or planet (highlighted by color). Out of the 93 fact-based groups studied, 30 of them are significantly strong or weak in the same sign in both the 1st and 9th harmonics.

Often the dominant sign and planet shows the commonly understood relationship between them. For example, people with careers in the Culinary industry are strong with both Cancer and the Moon. Also, Criminals are strong with both Scorpio and Mars.

The 14 personality trait study groups are listed after the fact-based groups. Many of these groups show interesting results, such as how Extroverts are dominant in the extroverted signs (Fire and Air).

Of the 15 Gauquelin groups, 11 of them show the same findings by sign, house, or planet as the comparative Rodden study group. For instance, both Rodden's and Gauquelin's group of Artists are strongest in Pisces.

ACTORS

Theme: Aquarius, Venus

Aquarius (1 in 184):

Aquarius is in the 4th quadrant of the zodiac. These signs are concerned with humanity giving them the ability to connect with large groups of people. Many Aquarians have mass-appeal and are a particularly loquacious group of people who are skilled in the art of relating to people.

Earth & Air signs (1 in 760):

These two elements combine to create intellectual ability. Actors are able to detach themselves personally in order to perform the roles of other characters.

Sagittarius is weak:

Sagittarius is strong with fact-based scientists. Actors are more interested in exploring the subjective realities of people. Interestingly, the Gauquelin group of actors is strongest in the sign of Sagittarius. Perhaps, American actors of today are different from French actors of the 19th century.

Venus:

Venus relates to beauty and artistry. Actors have the Moon connected with Venus, giving them a human touch. Mercury with Venus shows their giftedness with communication and diplomacy. Venus retrograde is common for people with high attractiveness.

ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE

Theme: Cancer, Moon

Moon:

The Moon is associated with dreams, memories, and the subconscious mind. Alzheimer's patients lose their memories and enter into a dreamlike reality with imagery from their subconscious. This confirms the Moon's association with lunacy.

Mercury in Cancer (1 in 12,894 - 9H)

Mercury in Cancer indicates a very subjective, personal style of thinking where facts and information are not as important as experiences. They are also more private with their thoughts.

Mercury in Fire Houses (1 in 6,115)

In the Fire houses, Mercury takes on a prominent role on their lives. Mercury is especially strong in the 1st house, showing that rational mind functioning (or its lack) is an attribute with which the person is identified.

CHILD ABUSE VICTIMS

Theme: Virgo/Scorpio, 4th House, Moon/Venus

Virgo & Scorpio:

These are the two signs most associated with sexuality. Venus in Virgo (1 in 3,701) and in Scorpio (1 in 1,737) are especially strong. These positions indicate that a person is likely to form intense yet insecure relationships, with the possibility of trauma.

Mars in the 4th House (1 in 4,512,699) & Mars on the Imum Coeli (1 in 2,453):

This is the strongest finding in the entire study. It is indicative of violence and abusive sexual experiences occurring in the home.

Venus-Jupiter aspects (1 in 3,185), Venus on Ascendant, Descendant, and Imum Coeli:

Venus being so frequent on the 4 Axis points indicates that many of a person's most important life experiences revolve around relationships. Venus-Jupiter aspects describe these relationships as being frequent and abundant.

Moon on Ascendant (1 in 1,656), and Moon in Pisces (1 in 1,026):

These positions of the Moon show a person to be highly sensitive and emotional.

Aries is weak:

Child abuse victims lack the strength and confidence Arians are known for.

9th House is weak (1 in 11,705):

The 9th house is a place of positivity and good fortune.

CHILDREN – NONE

Theme: Virgo, Saturn

Virgo:

Virgo is strong in the 9th harmonic (1 in 1,940), especially for Saturn (1 in 2,518). Virgos have a tendency for introversion, being critical and serious. They also tend to occupy themselves with work and hobbies. These traits are not conducive to meeting people and having children.

Saturn:

A strong Saturn in the birth chart indicates much seriousness and caution in the person's life. These traits make a person less likely to attract partners.

Moon in the 7th House (1 in 342) & Moon on the Descendant (1 in 173):

Moon in the 7th house and on the Descendant indicates shyness and inhibition in relationships.

Mars on the Ascendant (1 in 409):

People with Mars on the Ascendant are often perceived as hostile and aggressive.

9th House is weak (1 in 8,013):

This house is a sign of abundance and good fortune. People with no children rarely have planets in the 9th house.

COMEDIANS

Theme: Taurus/Scorpio/Aquarius, Moon

Aquarius:

Aquarius is strong in the 1st harmonic (1 in 163,970), especially for the Sun (1 in 2,191) and Venus (1 in 987). Aquarians are adept thinkers and communicators who radiate charm. Their identity and goals revolve around being thoughtful and informative.

Taurus:

Taurus is strong in the 9th harmonic (1 in 256), especially for Mars (1 in 1,977). Taurus and Aquarius are the two signs most associated with Venus. This implies that comedians are primarily likable people with an excellent ability to connect with others.

Scorpio & the 8th House:

These positions enable people to see beneath the surface and know what is hidden within people. Comedians often use their innate likability to reveal our shadow to us in a way that we can accept.

Libra is weak:

Librans often find themselves in conflict with the beliefs of others. Unlike the Venusian signs (Taurus and Aquarius), which seek to create harmony, Librans often create tension by challenging the way people think.

Moon:

Lunar people are highly imaginative and, sometimes, eccentric. They are tuned into the emotions of people and can intuit what makes them laugh.

COMPOSERS OF CLASSICAL MUSIC

Theme: Capricorn, Moon/Mercury/Uranus

Capricorn:

Capricorn is strong in the 1st and 9th harmonics (1 in 742 - 1H), especially for Venus (1 in 894 - 9H). Capricorns are willing to persevere in anonymity for great amounts of time in order to achieve long-lasting goals. Classical compositions have persevered for centuries as great artistic achievements (Venus). There is also a distinctly conservative nature to classical music compared with current popular music.

Moon-Uranus aspects and parallels:

Moon-Uranus aspects and parallels are frequent for composers. They have great powers of intuition and inventiveness.

Jupiter in the 4th House (1 in 419):

Composers are very productive working in private. The 4th house is the most hidden space in a birth chart. Jupiter here shows enthusiasm in solitude.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMERS

Theme: Scorpio/Capricorn, Mercury/Uranus

Scorpio & Capricorn:

These two signs are very driven and focused. Scorpios have penetrating minds that are capable of solving difficult problems, while Capricorns have a great capacity for work and discipline. Both signs are introverted, which suits computer programmers since most of their work is done independently.

Mercury:

Mercury represents logical reasoning ability.

Uranus:

Uranian people have inventive insights.

Sun in the 4th House (1 in 2,052):

They are very production working in solitude and do not seek attention.

Moon's North Node in the 6th House (1 in 1,766)

Technical people find purpose in the use of analytical abilities to do useful work.

CORPORATE TYCOONS

Theme: Cancer, Neptune

Cancer:

Cancer is strong in both the 1st and 9th harmonics (1 in 1,335 -1H). The Moon's South Node is also strong in Cancer (1 in 1,400). In spite of the sign's caring nature, it is still a Cardinal-power sign and seeks positions of influence. Cancer is the sign where the Sun's declination is highest each year. The Sun here represents the outer self seeking to gain recognition for being special.

Capricorn is weak:

Capricorn is the opposite sign from Cancer and seeks power sharing within a controlled group structure. They feel purpose by taking on responsibility and not for standing out. Capricorn is the sign where the Sun's declination is lowest each year. So, the outer self and its attempts to gain recognition for being special are repressed.

Neptune:

Sun-Neptune aspects (1 in 300) are the most frequent. Neptune represents dreams, in this case, of personal glory and success. This is often accomplished through improving financial conditions. Neptune also represents illusions and deception, which can be used to promote one's image, products, or services.

Uranus on the Moon's North Node (1 in 55,848):

This position indicates that a person's life purpose is to bring something new and inventive into the world.

FIGHTERS – BOXERS, MARTIAL ARTISTS, AND WRESTLERS

Theme: Virgo (6th), Scorpio (8th)

Scorpio & Capricorn:

Capricorn is strong in the 1st harmonic, especially for the Sun (1 in 1,267) and Mercury (1 in 10,135). Scorpio is strong in the 9th harmonic. These signs represent the life of fighters: struggle and suffering, will power and endurance, discipline and work ethic. Fighters, like Murderers, have Scorpio strong in the 9th harmonic, meaning they are both inwardly intense and inclined towards the dark side of life. Outwardly (1H), however, Fighters are strong in Capricorn instead of Taurus (Murderers are strong in Taurus and weak in Capricorn). Fighters seek an outer expression for their intensity in a form that is socially respectable (Capricorn) instead of merely personally satisfying (Taurus).

6th House:

The 6th house represents health problems and fighters are constantly being injured. The Sun (1 in 561) and Mercury (1 in 341) are most frequent.

Mars-Chiron aspects:

This aspect indicates a competitive drive to win (Mars) by wounding others (Chiron), and enduring frequent injuries as well.

MARRIAGE – 15 YEARS OR MORE

Theme: Sagittarius/Aquarius, 1st House, Jupiter

Aquarius:

Aquarians are attractive people who like being involved in relationships of all kinds, which is of great benefit to finding romantic partners. This strongly confirms the idea that Aquarius is a Venusian sign and not Libra, which is weak for this group.

Sagittarius:

Sagittarians are full of optimism and enthusiasm. People feel confident and joyful in their presence.

Mars in Gemini (1 in 2,054):

This position indicates a great deal of discussion and argumentation, showing how important frequent communication is for lasting relationships.

1st House:

A strong 1st house indicates that a person has good confidence and presence. Jupiter is especially strong in this house (1 in 395).

Sun-Jupiter aspects, Jupiter on the Ascendant (1 in 1,217), and Jupiter Direct:

Enthusiasm and positive experiences result from having Jupiter influencing the prime indicators of the self.

Mars-Jupiter aspects and parallels:

This planetary combination gives great confidence in pursuing goals and desires.

MARRIAGE – NEVER

Theme: Virgo, Moon

Virgo & Pisces:

Pisces is strong in the 1st harmonic, and Virgo is strong in the 9th harmonic. Many unmarried people are reclusive and skeptical about forming long-term relationships. They may also be critical of their own or other's attractiveness and likability. Saturn is strong in Virgo in the 1st and 9th harmonics, indicating that their focus may be on work. The Virgo Lunar Phase (1 in 301) is also frequent for unmarried people, which is the sixth 30 degree section of the Lunation cycle.

Moon:

The Moon is a strong influence for unmarried people. Lunar people are private, shy, and home-loving. The Moon is most frequent on the Descendant (1 in 382) symbolizing shyness and moodiness with people.

Mars on the Sun/Moon midpoint (1 in 1,131):

This is an indication of frustrations and tension in a person's life.

MATHEMATICIANS & PHYSICISTS

Theme: Aries/Capricorn, Mars/Saturn

Aries & Capricorn:

Aries and Capricorn are strong in the 1st harmonic (Aries: 1 in 343; Capricorn: 1 in 428) and Scorpio is strong in the 9th harmonic. These people are outwardly (1H) both independent (Aries) and disciplined (Capricorn). Inwardly (9H), they are deep seekers of knowledge (Scorpio) This group demonstrates the technical, productive side to these signs and their corresponding planets, which are also strong: Mars, Saturn, and Pluto.

Saturn in Taurus (1 in 1,704 - 9H):

They are very hard working over long periods of time. This also indicates a conservative approach to material things.

Mars-Saturn-Pluto aspects:

Mathematicians and physicists have excellent technical ability (Mars) and persistence (Saturn) used to research and understand the hidden structures of existence (Pluto).

Mars on the Ascendant:

They are self-willed individuals who often work on their own.

Neptune Direct (1 in 2,391):

Mathematicians and physicists have the highest frequency of Neptune direct of all the study groups. This group of people is, in fact, the antithesis of Neptune: direct, honest, fact-based and truth-seeking. The suggestion here is that Neptune is more powerful when retrograde.

5th House is weak (1 in 303):

The 5th house represents the fun, romance, and the enjoyment of creative expression.

MEDICAL PROFESSIONALS

Theme: Virgo, Pluto

Virgo:

Virgo is the sign most associated with sickness and health. They have great analytical abilities, which can be put to use in remedying people's health problems.

Mars in Pisces (1 in 2,315 - 9H):

This placement indicates a desire to be in service to others. It also indicates serving people who have been injured or suffered violence.

Pluto:

A strong Pluto influences people towards deep, transformational experiences. Doctors and nurses get embroiled in some of the most difficult experiences of other people's lives. Pluto frequent on the Moon's South Node (1 in 1,362) indicates that these people come from a background with intense struggles.

8th House:

The 8th house represents shadow aspects of the psyche. Mars is especially frequent in the 8th house (1 in 391), showing conflicts in a person's psychology.

Neptune in the 3rd House (1 in 3,087):

This position indicates confusion in the person's thinking and communications.

Mercury:

MENTAL ILLNESS

Theme: Scorpio, 11th House, Moon/Mercury/Neptune

Mental Illnesses include Schizophrenia and Psychosis, not Alzheimer's or Depression.

Scorpio:

Scorpios tend to see the dark side of life and often get themselves involved in stressful, dangerous situations, which could cause mental breakdowns.

11th House (1 in 19,577):

The 11th house represents higher life goals. Mercury is especially frequent in this space (1 in 1,099), showing that their goals are to achieve mental health and aptitude.

Mercury:

Mercury is frequently Retrograde and Mercury-Neptune aspects are frequent (1 in 639). This shows how the mentally ill often have a difficult time communicating and connecting with people.

Moon & Neptune:

The Moon is associated with the subconscious mind and emotions. Behavior arising from here is often seen as irrational. Thus, the Moon's historical association with lunacy shows some truth. Neptune aspects can incline people towards fantasy, illusion, and disorientation. Moon-Neptune aspects (1 in 1,417) and Moon-Neptune parallels are the most frequent (1 in 342). The Moon is also frequent on the Moon's South Node (1 in 2,292).

MILITARY PERSONNEL

Theme: Virgo/Capricorn, Neptune/Chiron

Virgo & Capricorn:

Virgo and Capricorn are frequent in the 1st and 9th harmonics. They are the hardest working and most practical signs. Both seek order and discipline. Capricorns are the most authoritative and domineering people. They desire respect that can be seen in forms such as large hierarchical organizations. Mercury in Capricorn (1 in 4,473 - 9H) shows that they think in very serious, realistic terms and respect authoritative communication.

Chiron:

Mercury-Chiron aspects are frequent, Mars-Chiron parallels are frequent (1 in 2,788), and Chiron Direct is frequent (1 in 110). The military inflict and suffer a great deal of injury.

Neptune aspects:

They are frequently subjected to illusory beliefs and expectations in the form of propaganda about "the enemy." Loss of co-workers and separation from their spouses and children is a constant theme in their lives.

Moon's North Node in the 11th House (1 in 211,732):

This position indicates that the military often see their life goals as contributing to the welfare of a larger community, their country.

Moon on the Ascendant (1 in 200) & Venus on the Ascendant (1 in 190):

These are the two most feminine planets. Planets on the Eastern horizon show how we are seen by others.

Chiron on the Midheaven (1 in 714) & the Imum Coeli (1 in 1,093):

Chiron on Midheaven-Imum Coeli axis shows that models experience a lot of criticism within their homes and careers. They are held to high standards of physical perfection.

Sun-Neptune parallels (1 in 2,464) & Moon-Neptune aspects (1 in 1,022):

Neptune with the Sun and Moon is an indication of the glamour that models have.

MURDERERS

Theme: Taurus/Scorpio, 4th House

Scorpio:

Scorpios are secretive, powerful, and full of desire. The Moon is especially frequent in Scorpio, showing the tendency to form intense emotional attachments to others.

Taurus:

Taurus is strong in the 1st harmonic, especially for Mercury (1 in 341). Taureans are strong and physical. The Taurus-Scorpio Axis of Magnetism is clearly how the Fixed signs earned the reputation of being stubborn, strong, and unmovable. Murderers, as a whole, are very powerful people with strong desires.

Venus & Jupiter in Libra:

Venus and Jupiter in Libra indicate that a person easily enters relationships, but that are oppositional, often involving power struggles over beliefs.

Capricorn is weak in both the 1st & 9th Harmonics, and the 10th House is weak:

This shows a lack of responsible or cautious behavior and an inability to control their impulses.

4th House:

The 4th house is the place of private, hidden activities.

Chiron on the Midheaven (1 in 474) & the Imum Coeli (1 in 37,291):

Wounding and being wounded are strong themes in their public and private lives.

MURDER VICTIMS

Theme: 10th House

10th House:

The 10th house is the most visible space, making murder victims targets. Murderers are strongest in the opposite 4th house, where they hide, and weak in the 10th house. (The 8th house of death is also strong.)

Neptune aspects:

Neptune is the planet most associated with victimization and loss. Neptune is also associated with illusion and delusion, which is probably a strong factor for homicide victims being involved in vulnerable situations.

Venus (1 in 394) & Saturn (1 in 618) on the Midheaven:

Venus shows a person to have an attractive public image, while Saturn causes people to have a serious, burdened, or restricted public image.

NOVELISTS

Theme: Aquarius, Saturn

Aquarius:

Aquarians are imaginative and expressive people who are talented at articulating their creative thoughts through language.

Aries is the weakest sign in the 1st and 9th Harmonics, and the 1st House is weak:

This suggests that novelists lack impulsive will. Arians need a lot of freedom and are not interested in being tied down to demanding long-term projects and, therefore, often lack the patience to write books. A weak 1st house indicates that a person has little interest in projecting the self into their environment.

Saturn:

Saturnine people are conservative, serious people who are capable of long periods of work. They seek accomplishments that are enduring and purposeful.

OBESITY

Theme: Moon/Jupiter

This group is composed entirely of people born in the Southern Hemisphere. Therefore, reversing the signs should be considered since the seasons are reversed.

Virgo is strong & Pisces is weak:

Virgo is the most frequent sign for health problems. Pisces represents health and well-being since it is the strongest sign for people living long lives. (If we consider reversing the signs for this study group, Pisces would be strongest and Virgo would be weakest. While this goes against the majority of the findings, it does fit with the conventional idea of Virgos being thin and Pisceans being more rounded figures.)

Mars in Cancer (Capricorn) in the 9th Harmonic (1 in 15,193):

This indicates struggles (Mars) with eating for comfort (Cancer). (Mars in the opposite sign, Capricorn, would indicate a strong repression of aggressive impulses, which could be sublimated towards food consumption.)

Sun in the 4th House (1 in 39,301) & Sun on the Imum Coeli (1 in 6,712):

Obese people spend much of their lives at home and veer away from activities that receive public attention.

Moon & Jupiter:

Lunar people often seek emotional comfort from food. Jupiter, being the planet of abundance and excess, inclines people toward overdoing that which they enjoy. Jupiter aspects are the most frequent (1 in 345).

Venus aspects are infrequent:

This indicates that they lack attractiveness and sensuality. Venus aspects are common for people in long-term relationships, which many obese people have a difficult time finding.

ONLY CHILD

Theme: Aquarius, Venus

Aquarius:

Aquarius is strong in the 1st harmonic (1 in 8,158) and the 9th harmonic (1 in 369). Aquarians enjoy their space, yet relationships are very important to them. Being an only child causes a person to simultaneously wish for more relationships and to develop a close relationship with one's parents. Mars is the most frequent planet in Aquarius (1 in 3,639). Aquarius rising is also very frequent (1 in 1,189).

Sun & Moon in Leo:

Only children typically receive an abundance of attention and are often treated as special by their parents.

Mercury in Pisces (1 in 1,096):

This indicates imaginative thinking in solitude.

Jupiter in Virgo (1 in 11,514):

This position indicates a critical attitude towards growth and expansion.

7th House:

Planets in this house show an emphasis on relationships. Venus is the most frequent planet (1 in 342). This suggests a good ability to have rewarding relationships.

Venus aspects:

Relationships and being loved are a major theme in their lives.

OUT-OF-BODY & NEAR DEATH EXPERIENCES

Theme: Virgo/Capricorn, Venus

Virgo:

Virgo is strong in the 1st and 9th Harmonics (1 in 72,676 - 1H).

The Near Death Experience is typically caused by serious bodily harm, which is common with Virgo. The result of a NDE is an out-of-body experience, which often involves an encounter with the divine or other after-life conditions. Out-of-Body experiences can also occur in a non-violent manner without a NDE.

Capricorn:

Capricorn is frequent in the 9th harmonic. Capricorn is the sign of the cave, being the lowest sign in the annual sun cycle. It is the place where solitary work is done. Leaving the body is withdrawing within in order to gain valuable insight.

Venus:

Venus aspects are frequent (1 in 148), especially Venus-Saturn aspects (1 in 2,235). Venus relates to all aspects of beauty and pleasure. Many Out-of-Body experiences contain great revelations and beauty. However, when combined with such a strong Virgo influence, the result is often being critical towards beauty. The Saturn-Venus aspect, specifically, suggests the restriction of pleasure.

Moon-Neptune parallels (1 in 252)

This is an indication of an abundant imagination, but also an insecure attachment to the body and physical environment.

POLICE OFFICERS

Theme: Leo/Scorpio (8th), Neptune

Scorpio & the 8th House:

Scorpios have an exceptional awareness of the dark side of human nature. Police officers make it their business to prevent the more dangerous elements of society from overwhelming us. The Sun (1 in 204) and Pluto (1 in 363) are also frequent in the 8th house, which represents the hidden and taboo aspects of our nature.

Leo:

Saturn is especially frequent in Leo (1 in 2,449). Police officers have confidence in their ability to be both authoritative and punitive.

Moon's North Node in the 5th House (1 in >1,000,000):

This surprising finding indicates that they aspire towards a life of joy, freedom, romance, and creativity.

Neptune on the Midheaven & Imum Coeli:

They experience much loss, confusion, and deception in their home and career.

Jupiter Retrograde is frequent (1 in 2,113), and Jupiter aspects are infrequent (1 in 338):

Police officers have the highest frequency of Jupiter retrograde of all the study groups. This shows a repression of growth, optimism, and expansion as well as the tendency to restrict the freedom of others.

PRIESTS

Theme: Taurus/Pisces, 7th/8th Houses

Pisces:

Mercury is frequent in Pisces in the 1st and 9th harmonics (1 in 274 – 9H). Pisceans are highly reflective people who think about spiritual topics and seek to be of service to others.

Sun in Leo in the 9th Harmonic (1 in 1,571):

Leos like to have attention and to be of central importance. Priests have been looked up to as the individual representatives of holiness. The Sun being strong in the 9th harmonic indicates that this is an inner quality which is not readily observed.

7th House (1 in 934) & 8th House:

These houses show much involvement with people, in both a public and private manner. Pluto is especially frequent in the 8th house (1 in 1,125), showing that priests often involve themselves in the shadowy aspects of peoples lives.

Neptune in the 9th House (1 in 46,094):

This position indicates much interest in ideals, beliefs, and religions.

Venus-Chiron aspects:

Venus with Chiron represents damaged relationships. This accurately symbolizes the many sex abuse cases that have come to light in recent years.

Theme: Pisces (12th), Jupiter

Pisces & the 12th House:

Pisces is the sign of service. Politicians also have planets frequent in Pisces. The Sun, Venus, and Jupiter are most frequent in the 12th house, showing this placement to be beneficial.

Scorpio (1 in 345):

Scorpios can be devious, scheming, and powerful people. They are capable of both the greatest loyalty and the worst acts of betrayal.

Capricorn Rising (1 in 3,405):

They appear serious and authoritative.

Jupiter:

Jupiter is frequent with the Sun, Moon, and Ascendant. Jupiter in these positions are indications for achieving goals and having a successful life. Jupiter is also frequent on the Moon's South Node (1 in 355).

Sun on the Moon's North Node (1 in 426):

This indicates a life path leading towards individual success and specialness.

The fact that astrological signatures show up among members of Royalty is compelling evidence that there is a cosmic connection between parents and their children. In most categories, it could be explained that the astrological traits led them into their circumstances. But here, the circumstances are present at birth.

TRANSVESTITES

Theme: Scorpio, Moon/Mars

Scorpio:

Transvestites are often burdened with sex identity and emotional struggles. Scorpios are deep, mysterious people. Venus in Scorpio is frequent in the 1st and 9th harmonics (1 in 279 – 1H, 1 in 898 - 9H). Their relationships are intense, complex, and shadowy. Venus also represents the female persona.

Aries is weak in the 1st & 9th Harmonics and the 1st House:

Scorpio and Aries both represent sexuality. Scorpio is secretive, while Aries is open and direct. Transvestites tend to keep private and do not project themselves into their environment.

Sun-Mars aspects (1 in 189) and parallels (1 in 1,287):

Sun-Mars relations indicate that a person's identity revolves around sexuality. Their lives contain themes of aggression, desire, and conflict.

Moon:

The Moon is frequently in aspect with Venus, Mars, and the Descendant, which are all relational. Lunar relationships are emotional, moody, nurturing, and reclusive. Moon-Saturn aspects show that nurturing was restricted in the early life, which tends to depress our emotional state.

APPENDIX 2 – THE MOON’S NODES

For the Moon’s Nodes study, I observed the sign and house placements for the Rising (North) Node. For aspects, conjunctions within 5 degrees of orb were used for both the North and South (falling) Nodes.

The astrological theory for the Moon's Nodes states that a planet’s positive qualities are emphasized and sought after on the North Node and its negative qualities are emphasized and struggled with on the South Node. However, an equal amount of both positive and negative study groups were found on both Moon's Nodes. For this reason, the study groups listed are those that are strong on both nodes.

APPENDIX 4 – RETROGRADE PLANETS

A planet is retrograde when it is closest to the Earth. At this time, planets inside the Earth's orbit of the Sun (Mercury and Venus) are conjunct the Sun on the ecliptic. Planets outside the Earth's orbit are opposite the Sun on the ecliptic.

Since a planet is closest to Earth during the retrograde phase, its influence is subjective where personal feelings are most involved. It is a time for perceiving new information and corresponds with the Winter and Spring seasons. The Winter Solstice corresponds with the moment a planet is Stationary Retrograde.

For Mercury, this means that our thinking is more subjective and opinionated, less clear. For Venus, it means that we seek greater intimacy. For Mars, it means that our desires are more impulsive and selfish. The moment when a planet is closest to the Earth is its time of greatest subjectivity and corresponds with the Spring Equinox (Aries).

Planets are more distant from the Earth, during the direct phase. As a result, their influence at this time is more objective. It is the time for making judgments and corresponds with the Summer and Fall seasons. The Summer Solstice corresponds with the moment a planet is Stationary Direct.

For Mercury, this causes objective thinking and good decision making. For Venus, this causes relationships to become more formal. For Mars, this causes our desires to be more well-planned and inclusive of others. The moment when a planet is furthest from Earth is the time of greatest objectivity, when outer clarity is greatest, and corresponds with the Fall Equinox (Libra).

Of all the planets, Mercury and Venus show the most notable effects from being direct or retrograde in motion. Mercury shows the traditional description of the retrograde effect of repressing the best qualities of the planet. The groups with the most Mercury retrograde have serious problems with their minds. The groups with the least Mercury retrograde are mostly great thinkers and communicators. Mercury is seen to have its most beneficial influence when direct, since its nature is to be objective and rational.

For Venus, the very opposite situation occurs. The groups most representative of the positive Venus qualities are strongly retrograde. Unlike Mercury, which prefers rational communication, Venus prefers to act from subjective feelings, always prioritizing personal tastes and desires. Venus retrograde is when relationships are most close, while Venus direct is when relationships are most distant.

(In the following tables, blue highlights indicate groups that emphasize the more positive attributes of the planet and red highlights indicate groups that emphasize the more negative attributes of the planet.)

APPENDIX 5 – MIDPOINTS

A midpoint is the location on the ecliptic precisely in the middle location between two planets. When a third planet is located at a midpoint, it creates an energetic relationship between the three planets. The Sun/Moon midpoint is the most influential, since it represents our primary individual needs and drives. A 3 degree orb is used for planetary conjunctions.

APPENDIX 6 – PLANETARY RULERSHIP OF SIGNS

In traditional astrology, each of the seven planets, Sun to Saturn, are assigned rulership over and exaltation in specific signs. Planets are thought to be strongest when positioned in these signs. Simultaneously, planets are thought to be weakest when in the opposite signs, which are called detriment and fall (shown below).

To study this concept, I found which signs are the strongest and weakest for each planet. This was determined by observing the signs where each planet has the most groups expressing their positive or negative natures in both the 1st and 9th harmonics.

	Planetary Strength	Planetary Weakness
Sun	Aries
Moon	Sagittarius, Aquarius	Aries, Capricorn
Mercury	Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces
Venus	Taurus	Virgo
Mars	Gemini, Capricorn	Taurus, Virgo
Jupiter	Scorpio	Libra
Saturn	Gemini, Libra, Aquarius	Cancer, Virgo, Sagittarius

Out of 14 total positions, 8 are the same as traditional rulerships (shown in blue), with only 1 being the opposite (shown in red). This shows strong validity for the traditional correspondences between signs and planets.

The Sun is strongest in Aries, its exalted position. The Moon is weakest in Capricorn, its position of detriment. Venus is the most consistent with traditional theory, being both strongest in Taurus, its ruled sign, and weakest in Virgo, its fallen sign. Mars is strongest in Capricorn, its exalted position. Saturn is strongest in the Air signs including its ruled sign Aquarius, and its exalted sign Libra, while weak in its sign of detriment, Cancer. Mercury is the only contradictory planet, being strong in Pisces, its sign of detriment.

Aquarius is the most beneficent sign, being strongest for three planets. Virgo is the most difficult sign, being weakest for three planets.

	Ruled	Exalted	Detriment	Fall
Sun	Leo	Aries	Aquarius	Libra
Moon	Cancer	Taurus	Capricorn	Scorpio
Mercury	Gemini, Virgo	Virgo	Sagittarius, Pisces	Pisces
Venus	Taurus, Libra	Pisces	Aries, Scorpio	Virgo
Mars	Aries, Scorpio	Capricorn	Taurus, Libra	Cancer
Jupiter	Sagittarius, Pisces	Cancer	Gemini, Virgo	Capricorn
Saturn	Capricorn, Aquarius	Libra	Cancer, Leo	Aries

APPENDIX 7 – THE SOUTHERN HEMISPHERE

In the Southern hemisphere, the seasons are completely reversed from the Northern hemisphere. From a Southern hemisphere point of view, Aries starts at the Fall Equinox, Cancer starts at the Winter Solstice, Libra starts at the Spring Equinox, and Capricorn starts at the Summer Solstice.

However, Aries represents the beginning of individual activity and is inherently connected to the Spring Solstice. Cancer, representing loving warmth, is inherently associated with the Summer Solstice. Libra, representing the birth of a social conscience, is inherently associated with the Fall Equinox. Capricorn, representing repression, discipline, and planning, is inherently associated with the Winter Solstice.

This suggests to me that the zodiac signs are in opposite positions for people born in the Southern hemisphere. To investigate, I compared 73 Actors and 80 Politicians born in the Southern Hemisphere to their Northern Hemisphere study groups. The Northern Hemisphere Actors are strong in Aquarius, while the Southern Hemisphere Actors are dominant in the opposite sign, Leo. The Northern Hemisphere politicians are strong in Pisces, while the Southern Hemisphere politicians are dominant in the opposite sign, Virgo.

I also looked at three of the world's most elite athletes, Michael Jordan, Wayne Gretsky, and Pele (see Case Studies). I noticed that Jordan and Gretsky have Mars in the 1st degree of Cancer, the peak of the solar cycle, while Pele has Mars in the 1st degree of Capricorn, the trough of the solar cycle.

Why would Pele have Mars there? It appears to be because he was born in the Southern hemisphere, where this is the 1st degree of the Summer Solstice, and Mars is actually in the 1st degree of Cancer for him.

For this reason, I only used Northern Hemisphere birth charts in the study groups for the entire book, except for the Obesity group which consists entirely of people born in the Southern Hemisphere.

APPENDIX 8 – THE SIDEREAL ZODIAC

According to historical records, the first zodiac was conceived by the Babylonians some 2,500 years ago. It was a belt of 12 unevenly sized, overlapping constellations which served as background to the Sun and planets on the ecliptic. The idea to assign 12 equal, 30 degree spaces to each constellation was inspired by the 12 month calendar. The calendar is based on the Earth's seasonal cycle around the Sun, which is also the basis for the Tropical zodiac. Even though the Tropical zodiac was not yet conceived by the Babylonians, its reality appears to be the basis for projecting a symmetrical zodiac onto the stars.

About 2,000 years ago, the Tropical zodiac was conceived by the Greeks. They named the signs after the constellations that were, but are no longer, in the same visual spaces. It is thought that this discovery, being at the time when both zodiacs were matched, was a sort of miracle. However, this assumes that both zodiacs are functional. This book shows that the Tropical zodiac is functional. However, it is hard to imagine how two entirely different zodiacs, which place the planets in different signs, could both be functional.

In my study on the Sidereal zodiac (constellations), there was much less evidence for its accuracy than the Tropical zodiac. The findings are more random and not very well fitted to the signs. The 9th harmonic findings also do not match the 1st harmonic findings. In the Tropical zodiac study, there are 23 cases of a group being strong in the same sign in both harmonics. In the Sidereal zodiac study, this only occurred 6 times (shown in blue). (The expected number of times for 93 groups to do this is about 5.)

The results for the Sidereal zodiac are shifted over by almost one sign from the Tropical zodiac. As a result, the findings for Pisces in the Sidereal zodiac are mostly the same as Aries in the Tropical zodiac. The groups in Sidereal Pisces are clearly a much better fit for Tropical Aries. This is true for most signs.
